Madison youths die in crash

Two Madison young men were injured fatally and a truck driver was hurt seriously in a head-on truck-car crash on Route 111 a half mile north of East Chain of Rocks Road at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Pronounced dead at the scene at 2:50 a.m. Wednesday were Paul Vincent Hogue, 18, of 1000 Grand Ave., Madison, driver of the car, and Mark S. Cox, 18, of 1110 State St. Madison, a passenger in the auto.

The driver of the semi-trailer truck, Charles Riggins, 34, Edwardsville, a former Granite City resident, was pinned in the cab of his truck nearly 45 minutes and had to be freed by Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department rescue workers. Riggins suffered a fractured right leg, a puncture wound to his right lower leg, cuts to his chin, an abrasion to the right side of his head and forehead and an injury to his left arm.

Madison County sheriff's deputies reported they found Mr. Cox without signs of life, pinned from the waist down under the tanker trailer, which was full of fuel oil. The trailer was on its side.

Mr. Hogue was found without signs of life eight feet north of the trailer's rear axle with his head at the edge of the pavement.

Debris, including both vehicles' motors and transmissions, covered 140 feet from the point of impact south to where the vehicles came to rest.

Witnesses and Riggins reported Mr. Hogue's auto was northbound at a high rate of speed, passed a northbound truck, returned to the right lane and then, for no apparent reason, swerved to the left, into the southbound lane. Riggins said he applied his truck's brakes and swerved to the right, but was unable to avoid the head-on collision.

A gouge was taken out of the pavement in the southbound lane where the vehicles were believed to have collided. It also is believed the truck and trailer dragged the car and its occupants under the trailer after impact and the two occupants of the car were thrown out before the vehicles came to rest.

Riggins' legs were pinned between the dashboard and seat of his crushed truck cab. Rescue workers reported he was conscious while they rescued him and he begged them to hurry, saying his right leg hurt.

Power tools were used to pry apart twisted metal of the overturned cab and free Riggins. A splint was applied to his right leg at the scene and he was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was admitted.

Rescue workers also had to use low trucks to roll the truck's trailer off Mr. Cox. Several attempts had to be made before the truck could be rolled far enough to pull him out from under the heavy trailer.

The efforts were hampered by fuel oil leaking from the trailer. Two of the compartments had been cut into and the third compartment was leaking slightly.

Precautions were taken to keep sparks and cigarettes away from the fuel oil. Mr. Hogue was born in Granite City and was a lifelong resident of the Quad-Cities area. He was of Catholic faith. Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur (Josephine) Hogue of Madison; four brothers, Thomas and Jacob Hogue of Madison and Arthur and Richard Hogue of Granite City; and six sisters, Miss Vivian Hogue of Madison, Miss Theresa Hogue of Granite City, and Mrs. Robert (Nataline) Wilkinson, Mrs. Roger (Lupie) Murphy, Mrs. Leland (Georgie) Burris and Mrs. Richard (Stephanie) Tart, all of Granite City.

Mr. Cox was born in Michigan City, Ind.

Surviving are five sisters, Mrs. Larry (Linda) Acker of Wanatah, Ind., and Misses Janie, Tammie and Tracey Pipes of Kingsford Heights, Ind., and Miss Kelly Henderson of Kingsford Heights; two brothers, William Cox of Michigan City, Ind., and Michael Cox of Kingsford Heights; his mother, Mrs. Donna Henderson of Kingsford Heights; his father, William Cox of Michigan City, and a grandmother, Mrs. Edna Trotter in Illinois.

Funeral arrangements may be found in today's obituary column.

On and off the record Girl Explorers from here to invade male sanctuary

Fort Sheridan, United States Army base near Chicago, will house the first females to stay at the Fort tonight — and they are not WACs (Women Army Corps) members, but Explorers from Granite City.

Seventeen girls from Explorer Post 9, sponsored by St. Elizabeth Hospital under the leadership of Mrs. Donna Doctor, RN, will check in at the Army base tonight.

Explorer Post 9 is a nursing post and the Explorers will tour several hospitals in the Chicago area.

The girls will be under "police" protection as Granite City Officer Glenn Wright, Madison County Explorer Post 10-35, and they are sponsored by the Granite City Police department, and six members of 10-35 will go to Chicago with Post 9.

The Police Explorers plan to visit various police facilities in Chicago.

The two groups jointly will visit many of the Chicago area landmarks and historical sights returning Sunday night to Granite City.

After an extended advertising campaign, a statewide referendum was held on a somewhat expanded plan

A total of $2,262,334 in expenditures, a difference of only $30,953 over last year, is listed in the 1976-77 budget for the Venice School District. However, the budget reflects a deficit of $296,425.

The tentative budget was approved for public posting by the Venice Board of Education at a meeting Monday night.

The total budget to operate Venice schools is up less than two per cent over 1975-76. Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers pointed out.

Expected revenue to meet budget expenses, listed at $1,965,849, still remains below the expenditure figures.

Center budget, amounting to $505,757 and included in the total budget, is the same sum as budgeted last year. All funds to operate the adult vocational-educational school are reimbursed from state and federal agencies.

Federally funded programs in the Venice School District (Title I and Title VII), account for $18,475 in the new budget, compared to $300,999 last year.

Expenditures for regular programs conducted at district are up $15,476.

The new budget anticipates expenditures of $1,681,505 in the educational fund, down from $1,892,606 last year. Revenue in that account this year is projected at $1,599,887.

Expenditures of $419,958 are

Roads frozen, dusty—or mud

(59th of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)
For the first century following achievement of statehood in 1818, the rich undrained prairie soils of Illinois supported phenomenal crops.

But when cleared for roadways, they powdered into choking dust in the summer, became bottomless quagmires in the spring and fall, and froze into devastating ruts in the winter.

Impossible during a good part of each year, the roads frequently defeated the best efforts of straining men, animals, and equipment to pass over them.

Related limitations were imposed upon commerce in terms of social relationships, work life, mail delivery and school attendance.

In his inaugural address in 1893, Governor Altgeld told the General Assembly, "We are, in this regard, almost where we were half a century ago."

It was not until the period 1918 to 1924 that the state began to wade permanently out of the mud.

In the 19th Century, road maintenance was in the hands of the townships, and these 1,600 uncoordinated administrative units found the tax system inadequate to support anything more than an occasional dragging.

Under the effective goading of Illinois Highway Improvement Association, the Tice Law passed the General Assembly in 1913.

The state agreed to provide half the money for highways built to a standard plan as well as to assume maintenance of them.

County bonds could be issued for state-aid roads and, in effect, the roads were turned over by the townships to the counties with some state supervision.

Under the new law, a few hundred miles of highway were built, and only Vermilion, Cook, Jackson and St. Clair Counties approved bond issues.

Noting several malfunctions of the lift station within the previous two weeks, the aldermen asked City Attorney George Filcoff to meet with ADM attorneys and officials to try and resolve the issue with the suggestion that it "be done immediately."

Some councilmen expressed the feeling that if the problem is not immediately corrected, the city should explore ways to force ADM to close its soybean processing plant on Cargill Road which allegedly is the major factor in the lift station failures.

ADM constructed a sewer line from the soybean processing plant to the Steelcrest Subdivision.

The meeting is the result of several factors, among them demand by the Granite City Council Tuesday night that the problem be resolved "once and for all" as soon as possible.

ADM spokesmen said the company has "put a fortune into trying to find the right kind of switches or that pump, even though we gave that lift station to the city and they assured us they would maintain it."

"We even flew an engineer in here to study the problem. There is nothing we can do but follow through on what our engineers tell us to do."

"Recently we put a whole new set of switches in the pump which seem to be lasting longer than the others. Two weeks ago, the belts loosened up and the switch fell apart, but we repaired that very quickly," the spokesman said.

A "fight to the last ditch" against a proposal by the East Side Levee and Sanitary District to route sanitary sewage from the Levee treatment plant to the Granite City Secondary sewage treatment system was pledged by Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward Tuesday night.

Noting that he believes "we should stay away from the levee district as far as we can get," Whitmer said he was unaware of any program to permit movement of sewage from the levee district system to Granite

City's treatment facilities until he "read it in the paper."

Whitmer's response to the plan followed announcement a week ago by Jack Scoville, president of the levee district board of trustees, that the present three members of the board had decided to plan construction of a transmission line to convey sewage now handled at the levee district's Landdown primary treatment plant to the Granite City facilities.

Whitmer also noted that the levee district at the same time published an advertisement for qualification of engineers to design such a line.

"I think we should handle treatment for Madison and Venice, because they are our neighbors, but as far as taking the sewage from the rest of the levee district, I'm totally against it," Whitmer said.

Madison and Venice primary sewage treatment now is handled through the levee sewers, the County Board voted to hold the Area Two (State Park Place) and Area Thyme (Eagle Park-Cloverleaf-East Madison) sewer construction programs in abeyance for further consideration, even at the risk of losing grants for these areas from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency which would pay about three-fourths of the cost of construction.

An estimated 75 persons opposing the sewers went to the courthouse for the meeting and many of them carried signs outside all four entrances to the courthouse as the board members entered.

Most of the protesters said the opposed taxation to finance the local share of the construction, preferring nearly any other means of paying for the sewers.

Some said they did not feel the county should "force the taxpayers to sign blank checks" for the sewers and then "fill in the amount after they find out how much it will cost."

Walter "Dick" Sparks, chairman of the county's special sewer committee, admitted no one is sure how much tax each homeowner will pay, but said he has released the best available estimates and more precise figures will be available a short time after construction contracts are awarded.

Despite assurances from Sparks that the general obligation bond and taxation method is the least expensive way to obtain sanitary sewers here, those opposing the method say they plan to file in Madison County Circuit Court for an injunction to halt any further

Five churches to show movie

Five area churches will show the film "Time To Run," a film that is a mixture of problems and solutions, on Sunday, July 25.

Churches and times the film will be shown are: Third Baptist Church, 36th Street and Grand Avenue, 6:30 p.m.; First Baptist Church, 21st Street and Delmar Avenue, at 7:30 p.m.; and at 7 p.m. the film will be shown at First Church of the Nazarene, 4701 Highway 111; Grace Baptist Church, 2001 Edwards Ave., and Suburban Baptist Church, 2500 St. Clair Ave.

Time to Run allows the viewer to become involved on any one or more of the three different levels. Viewed purely as entertainment, it's the suspenseful story of Jeff's attempts at sabotage in the nuclear generating plant conceived, designed and managed by his father. Jeff strongly feels that the plant is a threat to the environment, and he puts his feelings in action. Viewed on an emotional level, Time to Run is the deeply moving drama of the conflicts that are tearing a family apart—conflicts that develop between husband and wife, and between father and son. In an attempt to find freedom from the evergrowing hostilities, Jeff takes to the road, hoping to discover some meaning in his confused life.

The fast-paced, 17-minute slide program won the Gold Medal as the "Best Multi Media Documentary" at the International Film and TV Festival of New York in November 1975. The story describes the development of aviation and the history of the U.S. Air Force. Service representatives here Tuesday to complete details for the caravan's visit changed the previously announced location to Downtown Granite City, along Delmar Avenue between Niedringhaus Avenue and 20th Street, and rescheduled the tour hours to 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days. Similar van displays will be exhibited by the Army, Marine Corps and Navy.

Burglar returns stolen items

Inquiries by a burglary victim Monday led to the return of items stolen from her home, but there will be no prosecution of those involved.

A woman resident of the 2300 block of Nameoki Road told police her home had been burglarized between 11 p.m. Sunday and 10:30 p.m. Monday, and items valued at about $221 were taken.

Entry was believed gained with the use of a key, stolen from the mobile home of the victim's friend in the same block. Neighbors saw a girl enter the mobile home while the couple residing there was asleep and when they awoke, they noticed the key had been taken.

Based upon the description of the girl, the victim of the $221 burglary called several persons believed involved and pledged no prosecution if the stolen items were returned. Later Monday night, a car backed up to her home and all of the missing items were unloaded. Included were a radio, coffee pot, meat, a tea bag device and other items.

3 admit burglary

Three juvenile boys, ages 16, 12 and 12, voluntarily surrendered to police at 10 p.m. Monday and said they had aided another boy in stealing a combination radio and record player and two speakers from the apartment of Christie Evans, 1910 Kirkpatrick Homes, earlier Monday. The fourth boy and the stereo are being sought.

Entry was gained by removing plexiglass from the bottom window in the rear door.

HURT ON I-270

Venice grants raises

All Venice city employees were granted a $60 per month across-the-board salary increase in a new 1976-77 budget bill approved by the City Council Tuesday night.

The budget also provides funds for additional holiday pay for Martin Luther King's birthday on Jan. 15, which is being added to the list of city employee holidays.

A tax return can be audited at any time before the statute of limitations expires. Generally, that is three years from the time the return is due or filed, or two years from the time the tax is paid, whichever occurs later.

The law requires that taxpayers keep their records for at least as long as the statute of limitations is running.

Complete and orderly records can substantiate income or expense items and itemized deductions if the return is audited.

While the law does not specify the types of records the taxpayer should keep, it is suggested that receipts, canceled checks, bills, and other written documents are helpful, and retaining copies of the returns themselves also is beneficial.

Some records should be held even longer than the required three years. For example, property records should be kept as long as the property is kept and as they are useful in determining the basis of the original or replacement property.

For more information on recordkeeping requirements, taxpayers can order the free IRS publication 552, "Recordkeeping Requirements and a Guide to Tax Publications," by contacting their local IRS office.

TAX FACTS Census aided by IRS form

Q. Why did the 1975 form have questions asking about the town, county and state in which I live? For what purpose? My answers would be F.R.

A. The questions were put on the forms at the request of the U.S. Bureau of Census. From the answers, the Bureau will develop current estimates of population and per capita income. These estimates are used principally to determine the distribution of general revenue sharing funds to state and local governments.

Q. How long does one normally have to wait for a refund? — T.S.

A. Normally there is a three-to-five-week wait for refunds. However, for tax returns filed near April 15, refunds may be delayed because of the large volume of tax returns the IRS receives then.

If you should move after filing your tax return and you expect a refund, notify the Post Office serving your old address so the check can be forwarded to you. The Postal Service usually will forward a government check if you have filed a change of address with them.

Q. Can I still be audited after I receive my refund? — V.R.

A. A taxpayer receiving a federal income tax refund has no guarantee that his or her return will not be audited. Actually a refund only guarantees that the initial processing of the return has been completed, because it takes some time to process such a large number of returns, an audit may not take place until several months after the refund check arrives.

Levee

district's Landsowne plant, but Whitmer said he believes the two communities are close enough to Granite City that they could join the Granite City facilities by building their own transmission lines.

The Landsowne treatment plant, which now handles only primary treatment, serves Washington Park, National City, Madison, Venice, Fairmont City and surrounding areas. The levee district is required by the Environmental Protection Agency to provide secondary treatment.

Whitmer added that "The people in Granite City want a separation of the levee district down the county line so that we can have our own system and St. Clair County will have its own system. We tried that through legislation a couple years ago, but St. Clair County has some better lobbyists and it was knocked out."

"I understand," Whitmer continued, "that there is only $1 million separating the amounts of assessments in the two counties. So the Madison County area of the levee district (Quad-Cities) is paying half of the district costs—and it is nearly all spent in St. Clair County." Alderman Clyde Boyd, chairman of the council's street and alley committee, said that he and Mayor Paul Schuler had met with levee district representatives to consider delinquency rates and other factors involved in assessing the levee district for treatment at the local plant, and that he believed one of the Granite City facilities by the levee districts would go a long way toward paying off the bonded indebtedness required by Granite City to build the secondary plant.

"This could cut our rates and I can conceive a time when our people might not have to pay anything," Boyd said.

He explained that any definite commitment to such a program would come before the council in agreement form later and that council members will have an opportunity to consider the matter then.

Roads

($60,000,000 and 4,000 miles of roads) which passed overwhelmingly in 1975.

Progress was slow, for as soon as the bond issue passed, the retail cost of cement increased 80 per cent.

Only a few miles of road were built before 1970; but the state had acquired 3,000 miles of right-of-way, graded a good portion of it, and constructed a series of bridges.

The completion of the road network was left up to Gov. Len Small, who announced in his inaugural address that "the greatest economic good that can be accomplished for the county districts of our state is to push this road system to completion."

The eight years of his administration witnessed a great deal of pushing which resulted in the finest road system in the nation.

Between 1918 and 1925, motor vehicle licenses increased 850,000, adding support to the governor's campaign for another $100,000,000 bond issue, passed in 1924.

Governor Small used political pressure effectively by promising the people of a county new roads if his candidate were elected to the General Assembly, and assuring them that no roads would appear in case of defeat.

He delivered on his promises, and his engineers regularly constructed more than 1,000 miles of paved highways a year.

With the addition of a gasoline tax to help finance more hard roads, by 1930 Illinois boasted that 79 per cent of its 10,066-mile basic road system was paved.

After a century of sinking, toiling, cursing and sweating in the mud, those energies could finally be devoted to the frustrations of the new system.

Kiwanis plans 1977 races

A review of the weekend boat races was the principal topic of discussion at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Granite City Kiwanis Club in Charlie's restaurant.

The event was described as "very successful" by Chairman Bill Seebold and the Kiwanians began talking about next year's races which will make the 16th year the service club has held the nationally-noted boat races.

Next week, President Mike Toudas announced, the entire club will travel on Tuesday, July 27 to meet with the E. Alton Kiwanis Club.

"College of Regents Night" at the Women of the Moose Chapter 247 meeting last week featured guests from other chapters assuming various offices for the occasion.

Mrs. Para Singler, junior regent, opened the event, and Mrs. Edith Rodgers, a College of Regents member, was in charge and introduced the guest officers.

Those holding chairs were: Billie Seafair, Alton, junior graduate regent; Peggy Wilhelm, Collinsville, treasurer; Mrs. Rodgers, Granite City, senior regent; Inez Horman, Wood River, junior regent; Marge Spier, Cahokia, chaplain; Bertha Dudley, Wood River, Argus; and Edna Miller, recorder, Virginia Sellers, guide, Marian Lipscomb, assistant guide, Marie Hampton, sentinel, and Jean Teller and Dorothy Toy, escorts, all of Granite City.

Three new members inducted were Deborah Barr, Roselle Mead and Arletha Dair. Fifty-eight guests attended the event. Prizes in the social hour were won by Birdella Meyenburg, Jeantha Dudley and Lorene Gril.

The party will take place from 7 to 10 p.m. Paddlers' members may bring guests. Mrs. Gayle McCormick, who is arranging the event, explained.

Concert Saturday at New Life Center

Fred Church and the Spirituals will be featured at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the New Life Singing Center, East 20th and August streets.

Norman Fenton, center director, said the group performs in some of the largest auditoriums in the United States, and are dedicated to spreading the gospel with a vibrant sound in gospel singing.

Also appearing in the concert will be The New Life Singers of Chicago, who have performed previously at the center and at many other locations in Southern Illinois.

A capacity crowd enjoyed the July 12 concert in which the Harvesters Quartet and the Beacon Lights were featured, Fenton said.

He advised those planning to attend this Saturday's performance to "arrive early for a good seat. Once again a full house is expected," he explained.

Julie Anne Seitzer marks 7th birthday

Julie Ann Seitzer celebrated her seventh birthday at a party given during the weekend by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Kenneth Seitzer, 2605 Iowa St.

A Cinderella theme prevailed in the party decorations and birthday cake. Mrs. Seitzer was assisted by Miss Beth Fetter and Mrs. Nancy Hatfield.

Games were played and other entertainment was provided by Bill French who performed magic tricks, ice cream, cake and punch were served.

Gifts were presented to the honoree by her family and friends.

Among those present were Stephanie French, Timeni Hatfield, Steven and Joey Hatfield, Leah and Ricky Barnes, Lena Kalips and Julie Anne's brother, Kenny Seitzer.

Sewer bonds

actions on the Area One sewers. Attorney Joseph Hill of Granite City has been retained to file the injunction request and other attorneys, acting on behalf of some Doreby Slough residents, also may join the fight, opponents said.

At the County Board meeting, in front of a crowd which filled the room, the state grants for Areas Two and Three are in jeopardy due to the delay and he did not wish to jeopardize the Area One grant.

One asked why immediate action on Area One is necessary if action could be withheld on Areas Two and Three. Sparks responded the state grants for Areas Two and Three are in jeopardy due to the delay and he did not wish to jeopardize the Area One grant.

He noted the EPA already has granted one extension to the grants for all three areas and added, "There is no assurance they will stand for any more delays."

Despite the answer, a motion was made to table action on all three areas—and to meet with opponents of the plan before proceeding. That motion failed.

Sparks also was asked why the program is not being given more attention by the committee and Sparks noted that less than 25 per cent of the homeowners in Area One signed anti-sewer petitions and said their views seeking a better method of financing the local sewers has been given full consideration.

"I do not see any reason for further study. We are convinced we can not finance the sewers program any other way and we have to consider whether or not we want sewers in this county. This is the only way to get them, we are sure of that," Sparks commented.

A roll call vote only 901 board members J. J. Gramlich of Highland, H. Jack Frandsen of Alhambra and James Greene of East Alton voted against the proposal.

Absent when the vote was taken were Wayne Bridgewater of Bonana, William Little of Alton, Hays Mallory of Edwardsville and Michael Pellegrin of Collinsville.

In other business, the board instructed Architect Henry Gabriel of Granite City to attempt to trim plans for the proposed new Madison County Jail at Edwardsville to where it can be constructed for the $4 million which is available.

After $4 million in general obligation bonds had been sold, Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City reported that several county officials completed a trip to Washington, D. C., to find out if any grants are available to aid in constructing the jail. He reported the outlook is "not too good."

It was noted that President Ford has vetoed a public works bill which could have provided up to $6 million to construct the county jail, at no direct cost to the taxpayers.

Each board member was requested to urge his U. S. representative and senators to override the president's veto.

seem to operate about a month before they malfunction, but ADM is continuing to look for a better type of switch which will permanently correct the problem.

Alderman Sam Whitmer told the council Tuesday night that the city should consider billing ADM for the overtime street department workers have earned during calls to work on the lift station recently. That is one of the issues expected to be discussed at today's meeting.

Alderman Clyde Boyd of the Third Ward noted, "We have been very patient with this problem, but it is time it is resolved for good."

Walker vetoes bill outlawing noise at some sport events

Gov. Dan Walker Monday announced his veto of Senate Bill 193, which would have exempted by law for the first time certain industries from environmental protection laws.

Senate Bill 193 would have outlawed noise regulations covering some grain elevators, auto drag strips and other sports events.

Gov. Walker said a law enacted last year (Public Act 79-790) established a procedure for evaluating the economic impact of environmental regulations, including noise pollution standards. The new law should be used to determine whether anti-pollution regulations impose economic hardships, he added.

Gov. Walker said:

The General Assembly has charged the Pollution Control Board with the responsibility for developing economically reasonable standards to protect the citizens of Illinois from all forms of pollution.

"There is no reason to undermine the regulatory structure and undercut the authority of the board by granting legislative exemptions."

"We have a new law that allows for exceptions when economic hardship can be shown with facts. That is the procedure that should be followed."

Gov. Walker said the Institute for Environmental Quality will conduct economic impact studies of noise standards for both grain elevators and motor racing events. The IEQ currently is evaluating new regulations for motor racing proposed by the Environmental Protection Agency.

The Pollution Control Board thus will soon be reviewing noise pollution regulations affecting the facilities covered by S. B. 193.

Brown recluse spider is easy to identify

By RON CORNWELL
Extension Farm Adviser

The brown recluse spider is one of two poisonous spiders found in Illinois. This past week, we had brown recluse spiders brought into the Extension office for identification. The spiders often live in dark areas of a home such as a closet or basement.

The spider is normally a timid spider and stays in dark, secluded areas of the home or other buildings. During the late summer and fall, the spider tends to move around. This is often the time of year the spiders are found. They tend to stay out of sight the rest of the year.

The brown recluse spider is easy to identify from the dark fiddle shaped marking on the head and back area. The body color varies from light fawn to almost dark brown.

Both the male and female spider bites and injects toxin. In some cases the bite is not noticed immediately and in other cases the pain is immediate. The spiders are not aggressive and don't normally bite unless you unknowingly corner them.

To control spiders around the home, use diazinon or baygon oil base sprays in a pressurized spray can. Apply the spray to baseboards, cracks, around door thresholds and closets and areas. Any time you use chemical, be sure to read the label and apply them safely.

Spraying fence rows this summer can reduce field weed problems next year and save you both time and money.

If the vegetation in your fence rows is mainly broadleaf weeds, use 2,4-D at a rate of one-half to one pound in at least 10 gallons of water per acre. To estimate how much area you have to treat, remember that two miles of fence row, four feet wide, is about an acre. It may be necessary to spray 2,4-D twice during the cropping season.

If there are grass weeds such as Johnsongrass or foxtail in the fence row vegetation, you can mix dalapon with 2,4-D to control both grasses and broadleaf weeds. But do not use dalapon when desirable grasses are present.

Do not graze dairy animals on areas treated with 2,4-D within seven days after treatment. And be sure to read label instructions carefully and take appropriate precautions to avoid 2,4-D injury to nearby desirable plants.

The American Society of Agricultural Engineers recently published a standard upgrading the quality of the slow-moving vehicle (SMV) emblem.

The SMV emblem is designed for use on farm vehicles traveling at speeds less than 25 mph on public roads and highways. The triangular emblem warns motorists that the vehicle ahead is traveling at a slow speed.

Presently, the fluorescent material used on the SMV emblems is made to last for two or more years depending on where the implement it is on is stored. Under the new standard, the emblems would remain in usable condition for at least twice the previous exposure time.

In addition, the manufacturer's name and address must appear on the emblem's face in a specified size and type style. It is hoped that these requirements will result in the sale of better quality emblems. In Illinois, farmers are required by law to have SMV emblems on all farm machinery traveling on public roads.

Cooperation pledged in pollution enforcement

Attorney General William J. Scott said today that his office will continue to approach its working relationship with the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency with "a spirit of cooperation" so that the public's interest in control of pollution is protected.

Scott's comments came at a Springfield news conference, in the light of a Sangamon County Court decision supporting Scott's position that the Attorney General has jurisdiction over legal work for the State.

Scott said that enforcement of cases had continued during the three-month period the circuit court was considering the question of whether or not the Attorney General had jurisdiction over the legal work involved in preparing and presenting cases to the Pollution Control Board. He said he is giving the agency permission to complete work on some 75 cases it has initiated during the dispute.

Scott said "This office has dealt with IEPA in a spirit of cooperation during the six years the Agency has been in existence even though, at times, the arrangement contained elements of encroachment on the jurisdiction of this office."

"Time after time, we've bent over to avoid any interference with getting clean air and water for the people of our State. But, finally in May, when the Agency unilaterally declared its intentions of challenging the Attorney General's jurisdiction over legal enforcement of pollution cases, it became clear that we had to protect the public's interest in constitutionally operated government."

"The Court has supported our view. Now that that question has been resolved, we hope a renewed spirit of cooperation between us and the Agency will do the job people have a right to expect."

Scott described the decision by Judge Paul C. Verticchio as

Howlett urges 'Sunset' law

Michael J. Howlett, Democratic candidate for Governor, Monday advocated "Sunset" legislation to force periodic review of state agencies and eliminate those that have outlived their usefulness.

A "Sunset Law" makes mandatory that state boards, committees and commissions would be automatically abolished after a specified period of time unless the General Assembly should reconstitute them.

"A Sunset Law is being tried in Colorado," said Howlett. "We should give it a chance to work in Illinois."

"Illinois licenses more occupations, businesses and trades than any other state in the union - 175 in all.

"The state spends great time and money licensing lie detectors, operators, shorthand reporters, beauty operators, barbers, horsehoers, persons who hold boxing and wrestling matches - the announcers, timekeepers, match makers and referees."

"A Sunset Law would force periodic evaluation of an agency's performance and make it justify its existence. "Regulation is necessary in many activities. But a forced review might find many are unnecessary."

Howlett said a Sunset Law proposal by Rep. Harold Katz and Democratic leaders in the House of Representatives was bottled up and kept from floor debate by the Republican members of the Rules Committee.

"I am proud that our Democratic legislators on that committee voted to support this new way to attack waste in government," said Howlett.

Festival offers Gordon Lightfoot, Loggins and Messina, Daredevils

A special documentary, four rock performances and Ger- shwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," highlighting an evening of chamber music, are all in the upcoming week of activities at the Mississippi River Festival, held on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The Ozark Mountain Daredevils, with special guest Doug Kershaw, will perform Saturday, bringing their varied patterns of rock to the festival site. The Daredevils, a group that started in Springfield, Mo., and has since moved to the forefront of national attention, has had such hits as "Jackie Blue" and "If You Want to Get to Heaven."

The group's third album, "The Car Over the Lake Album," is out this summer and has been critically praised. The Kansas City Star called the album "the group's best work to date" and added that the Daredevils' music "pulls you in deeper and deeper on every listening."

A special documentary, "The Other Half of the Sky," will be shown on Monday, in Meridian Hall in the SIUE University Center. The documentary is a look into the lives of people of mainland China that was written and produced by film actress and activist Shirley MacLaine and directed by Claudia Weill.

Mia Weill, an award-winning producer-director who also did the photography and editing of the documentary, will be a guest lecturer prior to the showing on Monday. Her talk will start at 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday, Canadian folksinger and writer Gordon Lightfoot returns to the MRF with special guest Tom Chapin. Lightfoot has been in the forefront of folkrock music since the mid-60's, and has had a number of hits, including the current album, "Summertime Dream." Tom Chapin, brother of Harry Chapin who appeared at the festival in late June, has been the star of "Make A Wish" on network television and performed in his brother's group. Last season at the MRF, Tom Chapin was the opening act for brother Harry's performance.

Loggins and Messina, appearing on Wednesday, July 28, are on their final tour together since their announced breakup. The two have been recording and writing together for five years, since newcomer Kenny Loggins joined ex-Buffalo Springfield and Poco member Jim Messina to produce their first album, "Kenny Loggins with Jim Messina Sittin' In."

Since then, the two have not only had five gold or platinum albums on their own, but have contributed material to other artists ranging from the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band to Anne Murray to Lynn Anderson. Firefall will be appearing as the opening act for the Loggins and Messina concert.

Tonight's Chamber Series will feature work by Cesar Franck, Chopin, and Mozart. Franck's "Sonata in A major for Violin and Piano" will be performed by Darwin Apple on violin and David Ferguson on piano.

Marion Lampe will then perform Chopin's "Ballade No. 4 in F minor, Op. 32," and the evening will close with John Korman and Kent Perry on violin. Joan Korman and Robert Schieber on viola, and Joseph Pival on violoncello performing Mozart's "Quintet for Strings (G minor)."

The Chamber performance begins at 8:30 p.m. in Meridian Hall of the University Center on campus.

Sha Na Na, performing tomorrow, brings to the MRF a delightfully outrageous combination of music and acting that brings alive the 50's and 60's for the audience.

LOWERING CAMERA into the sewer along Franklin Avenue. Granite City Street Department crewmen are shown here preparing to repair underground sanitary sewer joint using the city's television and underground repair equipment. About 360 feet of the sewer is too badly deteriorated to be repaired and will have to be replaced, but the remainder is being repaired and reinforced by grouting from the inside. In the truck, Don Krause, standing at left is Jim Caviness, and at the rear of the truck are Carl Schierjohn, standing, and Clarence Baker, leaning over. The damage to the sewer was discovered during a routine inspection of the interior, using the television equipment.

Sound retarders successful

Sound readings in the Terminal Railroad Association switching yards in Madison were taken last week by representatives of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the new sound retarders reportedly have made a marked reduction in the noise.

Gregory Zak, sound specialist with the IEPA, reported to the Venice City Council Tuesday night and said a detailed written report of the IEPA will be sent to the council later.

Between a 30 and 33-decibel reduction has been noted, he said.

Second Ward Alderman Hank A. Sveria said, "I have been down there and have talked to the people living near the yards and those sound retarders are doing the job. There is very little noise now. Its nothing like it was and I want to thank everyone responsible for helping to get this problem corrected."

The Venice police report for the month of May listed receipt of 343 in fines, and said there was a total of 34 males and, for females arrested during the month.

The council approved installation of 59 new lights in the relocated Broadway project and McKinley bridge plaza.

Robbie Orman, from Aruba, spoke to the council.

"I just want to say that I found a real second home here in Venice these past two years. I have found the people here friendly and helpful. Living in Venice, while getting my education, has been a enjoyable experience for both myself, my wife and family and I want to thank everyone very much."

Mayor William Ebersold replied that "It has been a real pleasure having you and your family here. You have made good residents in Venice and have contributed much to the city."

Orman and his brother-in-law have been studying at Rankin Technical Center in St. Louis for the past two years. Aruba is an island off the northwest coast of Venezuela.

THREE HOUSES DAMAGED

Three houses were damaged by fire in the 900 block of Washington St., Madison, during the weekend. A vacant house at 919 Washington St. was almost destroyed. Damage was estimated at $6,000. The heat and smoke also did considerable damage to houses at 925 and 917 Washington. Firemen were at the scene for over two hours and suspect the fire was set in the kitchen of the vacant house.

Congressional bill could cause higher dining cost

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Thurs., July 22, 1976 Page 10

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer
Concern over possible passage of a congressional House Bill affecting the restaurant industry is being expressed by many restaurant waiters and waitresses the bill is proposed to help. Concern over the possible passage also has been expressed by Richard L. Lesh, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States; the Chicago and Illinois Restaurant Association and the local Greater Granite City Restaurant Association. "Congress is pondering a bill that could, one, raise the cost of eating out; two, result in a mandatory 'service charge' being attached to your restaurant check and three, cause a loss of jobs in the restaurant industry," Lesh said. The issue is so complex, only someone familiar with the workings of the industry is likely to spot the well-hidden flaws in this legislation, he added. Charles Hester, president of the Granite City Association and operator of Charlie's Restaurant, explained: "As things now stand, an employer may take a 50 per cent credit against the minimum wage if the employee is making at least that much in tips. In other words, if the applicable minimum wage rate is, say $2.00 per hour, and a waiter or waitress is averaging at least $1.10 an hour in tips, then the employer is required to pay only $1.10 an hour in salary. "If that sounds cheap, think of it this way: Under the present system, the employer cannot do worse than the minimum wage and very well may do better, depending on tips."

"Now consider what would happen if the tip credit is abolished. Many restaurant owners would suddenly find themselves faced with the need to increase salaries by 100 per cent. The restaurant owner would then have to charge the customer higher prices, either with or without permitting tipping, add to the check a mandatory service charge, lay off employees and reduce service to the customer, and perhaps even close the restaurant."

"Many of my waiters and waitresses are opposed to this bill. If passed, the incentive to do a good job would be taken away. I have even had a couple employees write their congressman voicing opposition to the bill," Hester said.

Sources in the restaurant industry, according to Lesh, say that a mandatory service charge is most likely to be adopted, although there undoubtedly would be a mixture of several possibilities.

"Interestingly enough, a mandatory service charge is not popular with the waiters and waitresses who are supposed to 'benefit' from this legislation," Lesh said.

"Two things would happen with a mandatory service charge system: one, the employee would go on straight salary, with no chance of making more money and second, the employer would be getting what the employees used to get in tips."

"There is no requirement that all of the 'service charge' income has to go into salaries, as long as the salaries are at least the minimum wage," Lesh said.

Grant to SIUE for equipment

Water and wastewater analysis laboratory equipment will be purchased with a $6,700 grant awarded to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The National Science Foundation awarded the money to the department of engineering and technology at SIUE to purchase the teaching equipment for sanitation technology and environmental engineering classes.

According to Harlan Bengtson, assistant professor of engineering and technology and project director, this money will purchase new equipment currently in use in the industry for water and wastewater analysis.

"It will give me a more complete experience to the variety of means in analyzing water and wastewater," Professor Bengtson said. "The two major items to be purchased are a gas chromatography system and an atomic absorption spectrophotometer."

The sanitation technology and environmental engineering courses at SIUE will begin using the new equipment in the fall.

Frank Kraus to coordinate BAC extension courses here

Frank L. Kraus, assistant superintendent of the Granite City public schools, has been selected by the Belleville Area College Board to serve as coordinator of the Granite City extension centers for BAC.

Kraus said he considers his appointment as an interim position and said he feels a permanent appointment will be made in the future.

He also said his duties with the Granite City school district, including upcoming negotiations, will demand much of his evening time, so he intends to appoint a full-time night coordinator who will work in the schools to coordinate the programs.

"I will simply be helping organize the program, making sure the night classes are offered locally, assuring BAC the staff is adequate and dealing with any problems which might arise. There is not much to this fall since Mr. Wittverongel already has set up an excellent program, and we will just carry through that program," Kraus explained.

He said his appointment of a full-time coordinator will be made soon. Kraus is to oversee BAC adult and vocational programs at Granite City High School South and the night auto mechanics class at GCHS North.

The BAC Board also has approved reappointment of Charles R. Stepoe of Madison and Albert E. Schaefer of Venice as coordinators for those school districts.

BAC administrator Larry Schmalenberger noted the coordinators were carefully selected to the best interests of the college and the communities and all have great knowledge of the needs of the students.

In other business, the board voted to terminate the flight attendant program, pending evaluation of student interest and placement opportunities for graduates. A questionnaire will be given to each aviation student and they will be asked to express their opinions and suggestions about the program.

All of the school's programs are to be evaluated this year with similar questionnaires, it was noted.

An Illinois Department of Corrections grant for $118,096 was received for the period July 1, 1976, through June 30, 1977. A letter of intent also was read on a proposal to contract with Menard district 429 to have BAC conduct academic and vocational programs at Menard Correctional Center and Menard Psychiatric Center.

The board agreed to evaluate all future site development plans carefully before proceeding. They were informed that the Phase III expansion program for Belleville has been placed on a state "available for cancellation" list, due to budget restrictions. It was noted site development funds may be needed to offset escalating construction costs in Phase II.

The board also voted to include in the budget funds and salaries necessary to add women's varsity volleyball, tennis and basketball to the college's offerings. At the request of the chairman, the board voted to hold two of its meetings during the next fiscal year away from the board office. One meeting will be in October in Sparta and the other will be in Granite City in March 1977.

Venice Park budget ok'd

A 1976-77 budget projecting total expenditures of $109,465 has been adopted by the Venice Park Board. The budget is an increase of $11,800 over last year's appropriation bill of $94,665.

The budget, adopted by the park board in a meeting that followed a public hearing at the park recreation hall in Venice, calls for expenditures of $67,235 in the general fund and $31,700 in the recreational fund.

The new general fund budget is up $11,530 over that of last year. The recreation fund is an increase of $1,800 over last year's budget.

General fund costs are projected to include $21,805 for administration purposes, $2,950 for the legal department, $3,000 for the finance department, $1,705 for general park expenses, $260 for elections, $33,935 for park grounds operations and $3,500 for salaries for park policemen.

The budget also calls for $7,500 for the municipal retirement fund, $250 for the annual audit and $3,100 for liability insurance.

DEMONSTRATION FOR ROTARY PRESIDENT. Mrs. Darlene Smith, secretary at the Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council office, demonstrates the new Ronco electric spirit duplicator Tuesday for W. F. Adopt pets Saturday from GC humane group

A gentle half-German Shepherd-collie dog and a long-haired light grey cat will be featured at the Association for Protection of Animals (APA) adoption clinic, set from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday.

Adoptions can be made at the APA's small shelter, located adjacent to Gasen Drugs in Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

"Pet of the Month" is Mama, a half-German Shepherd-collie female, 18 months old, whose owner was going to have her destroyed when she became pregnant, an APA officer said. He was persuaded to turn the animal over to APA care and she eventually had 10 puppies, all of which have been adopted.

The dog is very gentle, good with kids and is an excellent watchdog, the officer said.

Snake, a 5-year-old spayed female cat, is light grey in color with long hair. She came to the shelter in a wild state over a year ago, but since has been tamed and is responsive to a person who is understanding and has patience to work with the animal, the officer explained.

Anyone interested in adopting Snake will be taken by an APA volunteer from the adoption clinic to the main shelter, it was reported.

Other animals to be offered for adoption Saturday, include: a half-bird dog female, 5 months with short hair, which needs a home with children; an adult female black cat, with small patches of white on the stomach; a female kitten, grey tiger stripe and white; and a 6-week-old litter of kittens in tortoiseshell, grey and cream colors.

The non-profit humane group, which is being forced to relocate from its present facility at the Granite City Army Installation this month, still is seeking contributions to construct another shelter, officers said.

A tract of land will be made available to the organization if sufficient funds can be obtained to build the shelter.

Anyone wishing to donate funds to the building program is invited to mail a check to: APA, Post Office, Box 1311, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

To help build up the fund, APA volunteers are planning a public car wash from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 14, at Yates Mobil Service Station, Pontoon and Nameoki roads.

Also planned is a public fish fry on Saturday, Aug. 28, at Amvets Post 51, 5100 Lakeview Drive, from noon until 7 p.m. Arrangements are being made to deliver fish plates to elderly and shut-in persons during the serving hours. Those interested in this service are being asked to call the APA at 877-4594.

Four hurt as car hits pole

Four young people were injured when their auto, turning from Route 151 onto Niedringhaus Ave., went out of control and struck a utility pole on the north side of Niedringhaus Avenue near Poplar Street at 4:35 p.m. Tuesday.

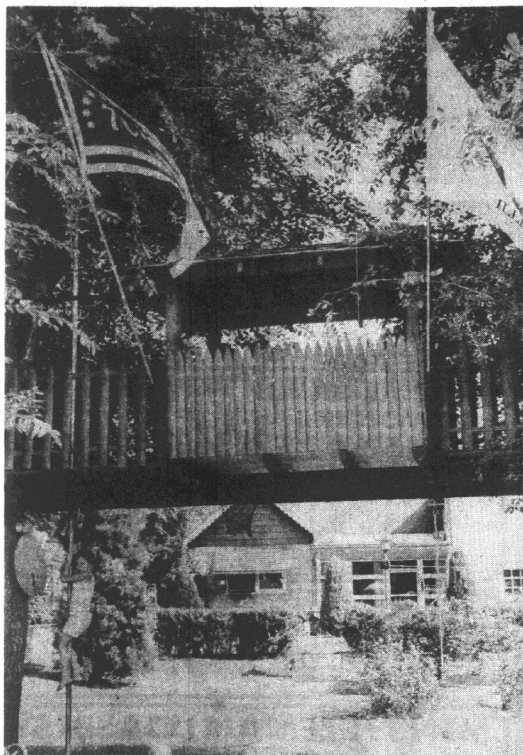

Robert Theis, 17, of 2147 Lee Ave., told police the accelerator pedal of his car stuck down, causing the accident. He was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for an abrasion to his left leg and injuries to his head, which struck the windshield.

Two other passengers in the car also were injured. Brian Kelley, 15, of 2412 Bromley Ave., was taken by ambulance to the hospital with pain to his upper back and a nose bleed and his brother, Keith Kelley, 14, suffered injuries to his chest and back and an abrasion to his left elbow.

X-rays were taken and all four were released from the hospital.

Terri L. Poore married in candlelight ceremony

Boquets of summer flowers decorated the altar and burning tapers in branched candelabra illuminated the sanctuary of Hope Lutheran Church for the wedding on June 19 of Miss Terri Lynn Poore and Dennis DuWayne Sollberger.

Fielding. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James R. Poore, 2305 Edison Ave. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sollberger, 3267 Westchester Drive.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Poore chose a full-length ivory organza gown enhanced with Venice lace at the high stand-up collar and on the bodice and wide cuffs of the long, sheer sleeves.

She wore an ivory bridal hat accented with Venice lace around the crown which also secured a short veil of illusion. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Attendants: Miss Jovita Fernandez, Mrs. Cathy Brown, a cousin of the bride and Miss Jackie Sollberger, the groom's sister, selected from length pastel blue gowns.

The dresses were designed with short sleeves and softly flowing skirts, complemented with sheer capes and picture hats in matching hues. Each held a nosegay of white carnations tipped blue, with baby's breath.

Sarah Patton served as the flower girl. She wore a blue frock and carried a natural color basket filled with blue carnations and baby's breath. Kevin Banks, a cousin of the groom, was the ringbearer.

The groom chose his brother, Paul Sollberger, as best man. Dave Dombek, Jerry Poore, a brother of the bride, Charles Moxey, Dale Harris and Ted Kwiatkowski completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Poore, wore a full-length blue chiffon sleeveless gown, with a long sleeve chiffon jacket trimmed with a gathered flounce at the jacket hem. Mrs. Sollberger, mother of the groom, was attired in a long pastel green chiffon dress fashioned with a V-neckline, long flowing sleeves and a slightly full skirt.

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS SOLLBERGER. They were married at Hope Lutheran Church. The bride is the former Terri Lynn Poore, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Poore, 2305 Edison Ave.

DAV Auxiliary social evening

The Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary Unit 53 met Luncheon was served to Mrs. Scheriger and Lena Kolips, Faye Douglass, Bertha Kichler, Pat Macke, Louise Schleiff and Ruth Nunes.

MARRIED. Mr. and Mrs. Philip R. "Randy" Skinner, who were married at 1 p.m. July 17 at Calvary Pentecostal Assembly by the Rev. Harold Maynard. Arrest two in check probe

A lengthy investigation by Granite City police resulted Monday in Daniel J. Berry, 21, St. Louis, being charged with attempted forgery and two counts of forgery and Andrew Williamson, 31, St. Louis, being charged with conspiracy and with two counts of unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

Berry allegedly cashed a stolen $872 check at American National Bank Thursday, July 15, and deposited $172 into the checking account of a citizen whose deposit slips had been stolen.

An unsuccessful attempt also was made by a man the same day to cash a check at Schnuck's Market in the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, it was alleged.

After a Schnuck's employee became suspicious about the check, the man attempting to cash it ran out of the store and left in a light-colored auto. The car was stopped at 22nd Street and Madison Avenue, but the occupants, a woman and a 16-year-old boy, were released after questioning.

Friday, July 16, another check was presented to a teller at American National Bank and an attempt was made to deposit $135 of the $884 check into the same private citizen's account, officials said. The teller recalled the transaction the previous day and attempted to confirm whether the check was stolen when the man attempting to cash the check was reported to become nervous and then fled the scene.

Police found a blue car deserted near 28th and State streets which matched the description of the one the man drove at the bank drive-up window.

One man was captured in Wilson Park about 100 yards from the abandoned car and a second man was chased by police to 27th Street and Edison Avenue where he was apprehended.

The stolen checks allegedly were stolen from Bob's Glass, 2501 Iowa St., June 5. Williamson was arrested last month after a search warrant was executed at 3004 E. 23rd St., and drugs and stolen checks from that firm allegedly were recovered.

Police said the unlawful possession of a controlled substance charges were placed against Williamson Monday after results returned from the state crime laboratory showed drugs taken from the home on East 23rd Street were classified as controlled drugs.

AMSTED income up

AMSTED Industries has reported net income for the nine months ended June 30, 1976, was $27,081,000, up 3 per cent from the $26,304,000 earned in the same period last year. Earnings per share rose to $5.05 compared to $4.93 a year ago.

Net income in the third fiscal quarter last year was reduced by a $3,040,000 loss, equal to 57 cents per share, on the disposal of the South Bend Lath division.

Sales of $378,291,000 in the nine months ended June 30, 1976 were $3,227,000, or 1 per cent below sales from continuing operations a year ago. Railroad products sales were down $21,800,000, or 10 per cent. Sales of general industrial products were up $11,100,000, or 14 per cent.

Construction and building product sales were up $7,500,000, or 9 per cent.

Joseph B. Lanterman, chairman, and Goff Smith, president, said decreased earnings resulting from reduced shipments of railroad products were partially offset by improved profits from construction and building products, principally in the water pipe operations.

AMSTED Industries include American Steel Foundries of Granite City.

Elect Schermer

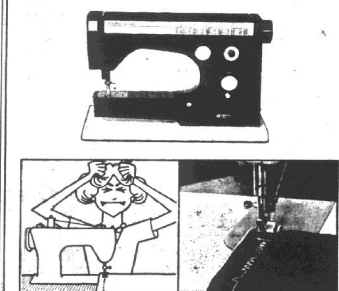

Avery Schermer of Madison has been elected treasurer of the Tri-City Regional Port District Board. Schermer also is a board member.

Other officers are: John Belicoff, president; Clyde "Bugs" Boyd, secretary; Carl Ranft, port manager; and Randall Robertson, port attorney.

Reverse ruling in use permit request

Granite City Council members Tuesday night reversed a decision of the City Plan Commission in awarding a special use permit for one year to Mrs. Evelyn Caple for operation of a beauty shop in her home at 2256 Iowa St.

The council acted after Mrs. Caple appeared before the Tuesday night council session and explained that she plans to operate a one-chair shop and that she has ample parking space for customers.

A request to the Plan Commission failed to win a majority vote and therefore was denied by that body. The vote was four in favor, two against and one commission member ab-staining. A minimum of six favorable votes is required to approve such requests.

The council concurred in other Plan Commission actions denying a B classification zoning to Philip Clutta to construct and repair construction trailers at 1402 Edwardsville Road. A group of neighbors presented petitions objecting to the request during the commission meeting.

The council also concurred in the Plan Commission's approval of annexation to Granite City of properties of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Papp, 2526 Pine St., and Mr. and Mrs. John Konarek, 1501 Edwardsville Road.

Gym and vocational center at Belleville

Construction of a $3.2 million gymnasium and vocational center is scheduled to begin at Belleville Area College in late fall, according to Dr. William Keel, president of the school.

Dr. Keel spoke and showed a 15-minute slide presentation on BAC programs at the Tuesday noon meeting in the YMCA of the Granite City Rotary Club.

He noted that the athletic program was developing very well.

Dr. Keel felt that the state of Illinois is not doing its share in furthering Junior colleges throughout the state.

Dr. Keel also mentioned that plans are under way to develop BAC extension centers in Granite City, Madison and Venice.

Dr. George T. Wilkins Sr. was program chairman and introduced Dr. Keel.

Rotarian Donald Shaffner, co-chairman with Robert Lombardi for the joint Rotary-Optimist Camelot Auction, announced that everyone not wearing their pink Camelot Auction buttons to Rotary meetings would be fined $1. He also announced that solicitations for the event should be finished by Sept. 1.

Cycle hits man

Edward D. Colbert, 18, of 645 Chouteau Ave., Mitchell, was injured when his motorcycle struck a pedestrian in the traffic lanes of Interstate 55 north of Route 140 near Wood at 10:35 p.m. Tuesday.

The pedestrian, James L. Karalus, 19, Bensenville, Ill., also was injured and was taken to a hospital at Springfield. Colbert was taken to the Staunton hospital.

Police seek youth who threatened 3 children

Police are searching for a young man who allegedly entered the mobile home of Joyce Denison, 2723 Harding Blvd., early Tuesday morning and threatened three children in the home.

Mrs. Denison reported at 3:20 a.m. Tuesday that when she returned home, her children related being threatened with a knife by a young man in the home.

The children said four youths approached the mobile home and one young man talked to Mrs. Denison's children through a window. The four then left, but returned about 10 minutes later. One young man then pulled the window open and climbed into the mobile home. He asked Mrs. Denison's children for a bandage and some food. The children said they had neither. They said the youth walked around inside the mobile home, displayed a folding knife and threatened the children's lives several times. He cut a section from a bed sheet and used it for a bandage over a cut to a finger.

He also threw several items out of the mobile home window, the children related. When he left, two of the other youths came to the window, returned a plastic box and a trophy, saying the other young man had taken them, and warned the children not to call the police, police were told.

Carbon monoxide, can be a killer

By MARION WELLS
To smoke-filled rooms, leaky gas heaters and cars running in closed garages we now can add a new potential carbon monoxide hazard. It's a solvent, methylene chloride, found in various paint removers used by hobbyists.

Carbon monoxide (CO) does its deadly work by interfering with the supply of oxygen to your body's tissues. At high enough levels, it can strike you unconscious without warning. Just a few minutes' exposure to air containing about one percent of it will very likely kill you. Lower levels may make you feel ill in a variety of ways.

It seems, however, that nothing carbon monoxide is not the only way to get it into your system. Writing in the Journal of The American Medical Association, Drs. Richard Stewart and Carl Hake of The Medical College of Wisconsin warn that methylene chloride, the main ingredient in various paint and varnish removers, is converted into carbon monoxide after being absorbed into our body.

The researchers are concerned because furniture refinishing has become quite popular among older Americans. It even has been done by convalescing hospital patients. Individual susceptibility to carbon monoxide's effects varies, and patients with such ailments as asthma, anemia and heart, circulatory or respiratory problems are in the high risk category.

Moreover, Stewart and Hake found that when subjects were exposed in a study of paint remover vapors for three hours, blood levels of CO kept going up after exposure ended. This longer exposure to elevated blood levels of carbon monoxide could be more stressful for the cardiovascular system.

For health's sake, make it a habit to read product labels carefully. Note that carbon monoxide hazards from methylene chloride are apt to be greater the poorer the ventilation and the longer your exposure. Insure good ventilation (just opening a window is often not enough) and take frequent fresh air breaks. Never smoke or eat while using such products.

Carbon monoxide from methylene chloride is additive to exposure from other sources, such as tobacco smoke. If you have special health problems, talk to your doctor before exposing yourself to anything which may increase blood CO levels. Certain driving situations also may carry hidden CO threats. Carbon monoxide is given off in automobile exhaust. The carbon monoxide level of surrounding air rises substantially in slow-moving traffic. Have your car's exhaust system examined for holes and leaks at regular intervals. Note that exhaust fumes can leak into the passenger compartment through holes in the floor, trunk, spare tire well or fender panels.

Leaving car trunks or the rear windows of station wagons open while driving can create a vacuum effect which sucks deadly exhaust fumes into the vehicle. Keep such openings closed. A couple of years ago CO killed a small child sleeping near the open rear window of a moving station wagon.

Learn to recognize the warning signs of possible carbon monoxide poisoning. These may include headache, dizziness, weakness, drowsiness, nausea, accelerated respiration, throbbing in the temples, full, bounding pulse, red or bluish red skin, and others. In night driving, if oncoming lights appear unusually bright and the darkness unusually black, the reason could be CO.

Should one or more such symptoms occur while driving, act immediately to be sure you have full cross ventilation. If symptoms don't subside, pull over and get out into fresh air. Should symptoms recur or more than one person in the vehicle be similarly affected, have your car inspected promptly.

The risk of harmful effects from CO may increase with heat, altitude or physical activity. Some evidence also indicates a high blood alcohol level may increase susceptibility, and after drinking you may be less alert to the danger and more likely to fall asleep. This is still another reason why drinking and driving don't mix.

BOOK REVIEW

Firsthand glimpse of China's turmoil

INSIDE THE CULTURAL REVOLUTION; by Jack Chen; Macmillan Publishing Co. Inc.; $15.95.

Reviewed By EDWARD NEILAN

HONG KONG — Jack Chen is a Trinidad-born Chinese who returned to the mainland to work from 1960 to 1970 as a journalist, editor and artist. During the cultural revolution in the People's Republic of China, which stood that nation on its collective ear during the late 1960s, Chen was once ordered to stand facing a portrait of Chairman Mao Tse-tung and then told to "recite your crimes."

Such personal glimpses provide a perspective that has been grossly lacking in other works on the cultural revolution. They make this book the best one yet on an episode in Chinese history that may become the model for recurring purges of people and policies that do not fit the Maoist mold.

Although Chen provides us with a tasty array of such anecdotes, there is no question that he is a supporter of the Communist revolution in China. Despite this avowed support — which he continues as a faculty member at Cornell University — his narrative provides so many examples of factionalism, power struggles and animosities within Communist ranks that we are left with two conclusions:

1. The Chinese Communists are, after all, human beings subject to the same emotions and competition and some of the pressures that exist in all societies. In other words, all the rules of human nature still apply.

2. Because the tendency toward backsliding or "revisionism" is so pronounced and recurring — Mao admits this, saying, "We must continually have struggles to prevent revisionism, we must continually have struggles or we will collapse" — we must believe that without constant pressure, the Chinese would not continue to accept Mao's policies.

It is true, how can Peking ever allow great numbers of scientists and students and specialists to go overseas seeking experience needed for domestic modernization? Such massive exposure would surely result in large-scale defections or, at the very least, some second thoughts about life under Maoist rule.

Chen is the son of a former Chinese foreign minister and in this book re-creates the cultural revolution as he lived it, describing events such as the attacks of the Red Guards, the "January Storm" in Shanghai, the "five-one-six takeover of the Foreign Ministry, the role of the People's Liberation Army and the defection and death of Lin Biao, Mao's chosen successor.

The purge aspect of all this is overpowering to me but not spelled out by Chen. Do 800 million Chinese wonder, as this reviewer often does, why it is that Mao's last two chosen successors — Liu Shao-chi and Lin Biao — have both been charged with "crimes" that resulted in their death or disappearance from power?

Chicago, for instance, is required by its size to have more than 400 tests; they actually do more than 800, using their own excellent lab facilities.

They don't always agree with the EPA on how to do it. There are some communities in the state which boast they have "the best tasting water in the state" — or even the world — and they aren't about to add chlorine just because a Pollution Control Board directive effective last December says they must.

Markwood and his staff try to explain, pacify, reassure and gain cooperation. Sometimes they fail. This week the division is filing seven enforcement actions with the PCB, charging non-compliance by communities which refuse to chlorinate their water.

Considering that many substances for which the agency is testing have acceptable limits which are measured in parts per million, per billion or even per trillion, it is easy to see why non-professionals may not understand the scope of the problem.

Snacks cost us $2 billion a year

By ROBERT BETTS

Doctors call it "junk food," and Americans, especially youngsters, eat it with gusto. We spend around $2 billion a year on between-meal snacks.

In the active world of teenagers, adequate diets often are forgotten. Studies show that six out of 10 teen-age girls and four out of 10 teen-age boys have poor diets because of their eating habits. Among the reasons for these improper diets are: skipping breakfast, eating nutritionally poor snacks, believing that eating makes one fat and considering outside activities more important than eating.

Pastry, pies, cookies and cakes top the list of teen snack preferences for girls. Other favorites for both girls and boys include soft drinks, candy and potato chips.

According to Drs. Delmyle and Diehl in their book, "Healthful Living," snacks... "can contribute to nutritional deficiencies, as they are often largely carbohydrates, 'empty calories' from carbonated beverages, pastries and the like."

It is estimated that 50 percent of the American population starts the day with a totally inadequate breakfast. Leading dropout among breakfast skippers is father. Mothers come second and younger children follow.

Nutritionists say that by skipping or skimping on this important meal, individuals can miss 25 to 33 percent of their daily allowances of a variety of nutrients.

Dr. Harold Rosenberg, author of the best-seller "The Doctor's Book of Vitamin Therapy," said, "We've become a nation of junk food consumers. We skip breakfast or grab a Danish and black coffee on the run... we stoke up our energy at noon on a sandwich served on a dismal piece of white bread and go to dinner that is usually heavy on starch and short on nutrition. We eat TV dinners robbed of all nutrients... buckets of 'pleasure' fried in hydrogenated oils and processed foods which are a poor facsimile of the real thing—all washed down with sodas loaded with chemicals. We simply get too few nutrients from the food we eat and our bodies suffer."

According to Rosenberg, youngsters are bombarded with dangerous artificial ingredients proved to be a cause of nervousness. Added to this is the frightening amount of junk food, so that "they never get to see enough protein."

For a balanced diet, Rosenberg recommends the best food that can be bought plus a carefully prescribed program of vitamin supplements or megavitamins.

Some doctors hold that there's nothing harmful about breaking up the day's food intake into smaller snacks, so long as the calorie total remains the same and there is enough nutritional variety.

In fact, small children, due to their faster metabolism, cannot go as long between feedings as adults can, explains Harvard nutrition expert Dr. Jean Mayer.

Important nutrition tips for youngsters are offered in four booklets put out by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. They use games and stories to introduce young readers to the four basic food groups. They are called "Good Food News" for Kids and are available free from Consumer Information, Department 41, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Medical assistance program

Belleville Area College Allied Health Program for Medical Assistance has openings for the fall semester. Medical assistant is a two-year associate degree program accredited by the American Association of Medical Assistants since 1972. Over the five years, graduates have worked in many different areas in the medical community: physicians' offices, industrial medical facilities, rural areas, surgical centers, medical foundations, insurance offices, lab and hospital facilities.

Coordinator Rose Hall stated she receives requests for employment from all over Illinois.

In addition to the above areas, she said that a medical assistant career prepares the graduate to work in other areas of government and industry, such as county coroners' offices, VA hospitals, pharmaceutical companies and the insurance area.

Quad-Cityans interested in applying for the Medical Assistant program may fill out an application form at the Admissions Office of BAC. A completed application includes payment of a $10 fee, a high school transcript or GED equivalency, and ACT scores (American College Testing).

Presidential panel sees smaller cars

By FRANK MACOMBER

A panel of the Presidential Task Force on Motor Vehicle Goals Beyond 1980 predicts the greatest change in the cars of tomorrow will be their reduced size, weight and speed, without the loss of ample interior room.

Representatives of more than 20 government agencies are serving on eight panels to contribute input to the eventual task force report. When all the panel reports are in and made public, Americans will be equipped better to make judgments about the kinds of cars they ought to be driving after 1980 to meet the national goals of safety, air quality and fuel conservation.

The panel on automotive manufacturing and maintenance is looking at the way industry plans to phase in changes and their impact on materials, labor and energy, required capital and car costs of the mid-1980s.

It concludes that industry can produce the cars of the future with no major technological changes because they won't be all that different from today's autos.

To achieve smaller cars and less powerful V-8 engines by changing bore and stroke is about the same as developing an all-new car. The industry traditionally does that every five to 10 years in each car line.

The mid-'80s car, the panel predicts, will contain substantially less iron and steel but more aluminum and plastics than today's autos.

The cost per pound will be higher, but the total production expense will be less because of reduced overall weight, according to the panel.

It foresees greater fuel economy for the smaller cars and a corresponding reduction in the number of service stations. Higher land and construction costs may force oil companies to shut down marginal stations and to consolidate operations into fewer, larger stations, according to the panel.

The panel recognizes that the auto industry has had tough sledding in recent years as government agencies imposed new safety, fuel economy and air-quality rules.

It estimates that meeting all these regulations — occupational safety and health, EPA rules for noise and exhaust emission reduction — have boosted the cost of new plant facilities by about 20 per cent.

All these impacts on forges, foundries, stamping mills, plating plants and finishing processes, the panel finds, have put a "severe" strain on the industry's financial resources, even forcing some smaller plants to be shut down.

Meanwhile in the 1975-80 period the four major auto-makers plan to spend about $2 billion equipping their plants even further to meet occupational safety-health requirements and EPA noise regulations.

Repair shops of the future, the panel predicts, will require improved skills and equipment to handle aluminum, plastics and lighter-gauge metals. But of a more encouraging note for auto owners, maintenance costs should drop with radial tires, longer oil change and lubrication intervals, electronic ignitions, sealed bearings, no-leak fuel and lifetime batteries.

Panel officials emphasize that their report merely is designed to be informative and is not an indication of future government plans for the auto industry. Most of the information came from the industry itself.

Bridge for sale, land in question

The question of selling approximately 137 acres of land near the Chain of Rocks Bridge has not yet been decided by Madison Council members yet.

Although the council wants to sell the bridge, the city could make as high as $125,000 a year from a methane gas recovery program in the landfill area.

Tests six months ago by the NRG Nu Fuel Company, that drilled four test wells, showed the commercial feasibility of recovering methane.

The program of development has been delayed, however, until the firm solves corrosion problem encountered at a similar operation in Palos Verdes, Calif.

Mayor Mike Saasy said that company officials feel that they will have the corrosion problem solved soon.

The city would receive one-eighth of the profits from the operation, which could run from $75,000 a year to as high as $125,000 for a period of 15 to 20 years.

Eight students receive degrees from Eastern

A total of 1,285 students have received fall and spring semester degrees from Eastern Illinois University in Charleston, because no mid-year graduation ceremony is held, students who completed requirements at the end of the fall semester are listed on the spring commencement.

Granite City students receiving a Bachelor of Arts degree are Linda Kay Baumann, Connie Sue Kutosky, Margaret M. Rehagen, Mitchell D. Spurlock.

Phyllis Jean Benoit received a Bachelor of Science in Education.

A Bachelor of Science degree from the School of Home Economics was awarded to Sue Ann Knobloch.

The School of Fine Arts awarded a Bachelor of Arts degree to Mary Ellen Kay Breyer and a Bachelor of Music to Susan Kathleen Davis.

Rev. John W. Skipper, 98, dies

Funeral services were held Sunday in the Doniphan, Mo., Church of God for the Rev. John W. Skipper, 98, of Doniphan, formerly of Granite City.

He was a retired evangelist and minister of the Church of God for 77 of his 98 years, serving pastorates at Hannibal, Mo., and in Illinois at Girard, Washington Park, Mitchell and Granite City before moving to Missouri.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Mrs. Birdie (Diveley)

Skipper, in 1960.

Rev. Skipper is survived by three sons, Virgil R. Skipper of Hillsboro, Ill., Vernon L. Skipper of Granite City and the Rev. Harold D. Skipper of Houston, Mo.; two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Forney of Hillsboro, Ill., and Mrs. Evelyn Cullison of Doniphan, Mo.; 22 grandchildren, several great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Doniphan, Mo.

Head special education group

Mrs. Evelyn Tolliver, 1250 Klein St., Venice, was elected chairman of the Madison County Special Education Advisory Committee at a meeting Monday. Mrs. Tolliver first was appointed to the committee by Harold E. Briggs, regional superintendent of schools, on April 9, 1974.

The committee, as required by law, recommends to the State Advisory Council on the Education of Handicapped Children such additions to, or modifications of, the County Comprehensive Plan as they find necessary or desirable to improve the educational program for handicapped children residing in the county. Other committee members are: Glenn Abernethy, 2847 Grand Ave., Granite City; Mrs. Marvin Korinek, Collinsville; Joseph A. Brewer, Alton; Silas H. Sides, Marine; Earl Vuagniaux, Edwardsville and Robert Sims, Godfrey.

THEFT FROM PADDLERS

About 175 hamburger patties, three packages of hot dogs, eight boxes of candy and a box of ice cream sandwiches were stolen from the concession stand at Paddlers' Pool on Johnson Road. It was discovered at 8:45 a.m. Tuesday. Plywood over the sliding window was removed and entry was believed gained by climbing through the window.

BURGLARY OF HOME: A screen on an open north window was cut and entry to the home of Tommie Yates, 2118 Missouri Ave., was gained by climbing through the window, it was discovered at 10:55 p.m. Tuesday. The house was ransacked. About 20 record albums were known taken. A list of other items missing is to be prepared.

Water damages new hospital

Vandals turned on a water faucet on the third floor of the Oliver Anderson Hospital under construction in Maryville, allowing water to flood three floors and cause damage estimated at about $50,000. It was discovered Monday. S. M. Wilson Co. of Granite City is general contractor for the construction project.

Madison County sheriff's deputies reported water as deep as two inches on the floors of the first three floors and damage to the floors, walls and electrical outlets. There were no signs of forced entry to the nearly completed hospital.

countywide young ladies made a bid for the title in swimsuit and evening gown competition.

Miss Asadorian is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Asadorian and was chosen Miss Granite City in 1975, representing her hometown in the Illinois State Pageant. She is a 1974 graduate of Granite City High School South and is now a music major at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Miss Asadorian is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 120 pounds and has dark brown hair and eyes. Her measurements are 34-24½-35. She enjoys tennis.

Queen Asadorian will reign next week over the following fair activities: Sunday, Antique Auto Show at 1 p.m.; Monday, Demolition derby at 8 p.m.; Tuesday, Tractor-pulling contest which has five weight classes plus one special modified class at 6 p.m.; Wednesday, Stock car racing at 7 p.m.; Thursday, Arts and crafts demonstrations from 2-8 p.m., and motorcycle racing at 8 p.m.; Friday, All youth horse show at 1 p.m. and Bicentennial musical extravaganza at 7:30 p.m., and assist in presenting awards of 4-H activities; Beef and dairy cattle, sheep, swine, junior department livestock, poultry, pigeons, rabbits, agricultural products, horticulture, floriculture, textiles and fine arts, education, dairy-apriary-culinary, junior agricultural products, junior domestic arts, light and western horse show and other events.

Following fair week in Highland, the newly-chosen queen will represent the Madison County Fair next month at the Illinois State Fair and serve as a hostess, along with other county fair queens. She will also participate in a parade, ribbon-cutting ceremonies and a luncheon at the state fair.

In January of 1977, Miss Asadorian will join 55 other county queens in Springfield in competing for the title "Miss Illinois County Fair" where the winner will receive a $1,000 scholarship to the school of her choice and also reign over next year's state fair.

Sharp rise in steel production

Domestic raw steel production in the first half of this year surpassed output in the first six months of 1975 by nearly 2.5 million tons, the American Iron and Steel Institute (AISI) reported.

June production of 11,571,000 net tons brought output for the six months to 66,182,000 tons, compared to 63,701,000 tons in the same period in 1975. Raw steel production in June of last year was 8,744,000 tons.

The June total was equal to a 1975 record of 11,571,000 tons, marking the second month in a row that the nation's mills operated at or near 90 percent of their steelmaking capability.

Through the first six months of this year the capability utilization rate stood at 84.8 percent.

The basic oxygen process accounted for 7,085,000 tons of total production in June and 40,882,000 tons of total output for the six months.

Electric furnace output was 2,281,000 tons during the month and 12,698,000 tons in the six months. Open hearth steel production of 2,287,000 tons in June brought the six-month total for 1976 to 12,591,000 tons.

Following a slow start, raw steel production this year has steadily increased over the comparable 1975 period and is running well ahead of last year when mills produced 116,642,000 net tons.

AISI estimates the domestic raw steelmaking capability for 1976 at 159 million tons.

RAISING SINKING MANHOLE in a sewer in the 3100 block of Jill Avenue has occupied a Granite City Street Department crew nearly a week. A high water table washed out the dirt supporting a sewer and manhole and both began to sink. A crew is shown here installing a temporary sewer line to another manhole while work continues to raise the manhole and reconnect the lines to it. A few residents in that area were without sanitary-sewer service until the temporary line was completed this week. (Photo-Record Photo)

Children tired but very happy

GC expands sewer televising work

Tired but very happy was the way the 14 Quad-City children attending the Handicapped Special Olympics in Chicago were described by Kay Hahne, president of Parents of Special Education, as they returned home Sunday from Chicago.

A total of 20 gold medals were earned by the area children, who captured six first places, six second, six third, and one fifth and one sixth place in the competition.

Mrs. Hahne said, "I want to thank the Granite City Rotary club, the Granite City Press-Record, the Teachers' organization, Parents of Special Education, WGN, and all the new friends who came through with the funds needed so the trip could be made and the children could participate."

Expansion of Granite City's sewer rehabilitation program in the Nameoki area was assured Tuesday night with City Council approval of the purchase of additional equipment to televise and grout sanitary sewers where they are found defective.

The council agreed to buy the new trailer-mounted equipment from Cues Corporation, Orlando, Fla., at a bid price of $33,500. The Cues firm, from which the city bought its present equipment last year, was the only bidder.

The purchase will give the City Street Department two complete operating systems to televise sanitary sewers in a search for cracked or broken lines, many of which can be repaired by the grouting process.

Street officials decided to purchase the additional equipment to permit them to cut in half the time required to televise and repair all sewers in the Nameoki area that have been damaged by a high water table. Early estimates indicated it will take five years to complete such a job.

Council members Tuesday night were invited by the Street and Alley Committee, headed by Alderman Clyde Boyd, to attend an informal meeting at 7 p.m. Monday to further discuss a proposal to establish a new city sewer department, or to form a separate sewer department within the street department.

The street committee met prior to the council session Tuesday night with Lionel Portell, street superintendent, James Slack, assistant street superintendent, and Monroe Brewer, city engineer, to consider the plan.

The suggestion for a separate sewer department was made in the council's July 6 meeting because of the mounting work necessary for sewer inspection and repair as a result of sewer break problems in the Nameoki area.

The work now is done by street department workers, but budget arrangements were made earlier this year to add several men to sewer work crews, and some officials believed the sewer work should be separated from the street department to give street workers more time to handle their regular duties.

In a related action, the council agreed to award a contract for $1,138 to Paul Seibold Co., contractors for railroad yard expansion by the Illinois Terminal Railroad in North Granite City.

Brewer told the council that a sewer line was built through Terminal property a number of years ago with the understanding that if the Terminal wanted to use the property, the city would change the line.

The Terminal now intends to move into the property with several new lines and has notified the city that the sewer needs to be changed. However, Brewer said, the railroad agreed to leave the sewer where it is if two manholes were raised to meet the new grade level of the yards construction.

Seibold is the contractor for the Terminal construction. It was agreed that as contractor for the railroad work, it would be simpler to permit Seibold to raise the manholes, at city cost, than it would be to move "about 800 feet of sewer lines."

Mercer, Thomas clash Sunday in double-header

With the Illinois Inter-City Baseball League's regular season competition entering its homestretch—only three doubleheader playing dates remain before playoffs begin—Mercer could extend its lead in the league standings with wins here Sunday at Wilson Park against Thomas when the two meet at 1 p.m. for a third time this year.

Mercer has defeated Thomas twice in twinbills played earlier this season.

A clash Sunday between Highland-Pierron and the Vans at East Alton could result in breaking a second place tie between the two, but a split of their doubleheader would provide another stalemate. Also Sunday, Fairfax is at Panama for a twinbill.

League standings are:

Mercer, 15-6; Highland and Vans, each 14-6; Fairfax, 9-12; Panama, 7-13; and Thomas, 2-18. Thomas' two wins were at the expense of Highland and Fairfax.

5 compete in swim meet

Five members of the Tri-City Area YMCA swim team competed last week in an Ozark Swimming Association meet held at Florissant, Mo., in which more than 600 boys and girls representing 18 different clubs participated.

Competing in a six-lane, 50-meter pool, two area youths won blue ribbons for first-place finishes in events. They are Shawn Allen first in a backstroke heat and sixth overall; Denise Darnell first in a butterfly heat and first overall.

Other area athletes who competed were Leslie Allen, Tom Buente and Tracy Young.

Gateway race opens July 30

The sixth annual $150,000 Gateway Nationals of drag racing will run July 30 thru Aug. 1 at St. Louis International Raceway.

As of today, more than 100 participants have pre-entered, assuring this year's event a record number of entries. The entries should exceed 1,000 when the entries close at 2 p.m. on Saturday of the event.

As in previous years, the professional categories (funny car, top fuel, pro-stock and pro-comp), will claim the lion's share of the spectator interest, but this year, the professionals will have to share a portion of the spotlight with two of the world's fastest new quarter-mile speed records. The record now stands at 315.73 miles-per-hour.

Added attractions include Richard Hutchins' Chevy Rebelton wheelstanding truck and "Captain Roller Ball", a rocket-powered human being on roller skates.

Professional drivers entered include Tom McEwen from Fountain Valley, Calif., Gene Snow of Ft. Worth, Tex., Tom Hoover from Minneapolis, Minn., Bill Jenkins of Malvern, Pa., Gapp & Rousch of Detroit, Mich., Wally Booth of Cleveland, Ohio, Mickey Thompson of Los Angeles, Cal., John Wiebe of Newton, Kan., Larry Paulton of Miami, Fla., and Frank Bradley of Fremont, Cal.

Local professional drivers entered include Jerry Haas driving Butch Hutcheson and Rich Thomas, both driving pro-stock Vegas. Ira Hollenbe will be driving a hemi-powered Vega in the funny car category.

Gates will open at noon on Friday, July 30. Professional qualifying, time-trials, world record attempts, rocket car and wheelstanding exhibition runs, a special pro-stock match race pitting Bill "Grumpy" Jenkins, Gapp & Rousch, Wally Booth and local favorite Jerry Haas continues until 10:30 p.m.

Gates will open at 10 a.m. on Saturday, July 31, with class eliminations, professional qualifying, exhibition wheelstanding runs, quarter-mile rocket dragster world-record attempts by the American Dream and Cockin's Comet begin at 6 p.m.

Gates will open at 8 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 1. Final eliminations in all professional and sportsman categories are scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. General admission is $3 Friday, $4 Saturday and $5 on Sunday. Children under 12 will be admitted free when accompanied by adults.

Advance preferred admission tickets are on sale at Sears stores and Lampert Auto Centers. All advance tickets will be discounted $2.

St. Louis International Raceway is located on Rm 303 south of Madison near Interstate 70.

15TH ANNUAL KIWANIS BOAT RACES were held during the weekend, as over 100 boats participated in the 13 racing events on Horseshoe Lake. The event was so successful that the local service club has begun plans for its 16th event next July. Kiwanian William (Bill) Seebold again will be the general chairman. Two brothers, Dan and Jerry Kritis of Bristol, Ind., both national champion hydroplane and runabout drivers, won six of the 13 events and the East Championship, and John Dorch of Overland, Mo., won the West Championship. Proceeds from the event are used by the Kiwanis Club for civic projects in the Quad-City area.

Ticket sale for county night at stadium

Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the Madison County Board, announces that persons wishing to obtain tickets for Madison County Night at St. Louis' Busch Stadium on Aug. 5, may purchase them at the information booth in the lobby of the Madison County Courthouse, Edwardsville, at a cost of $3.50 per person.

Hagnauer, chairman of Madison County Night, says this will be an excellent opportunity for officials and residents of Madison County to publicize the county's history in this Bicentennial year. Hagnauer noted Madison County was formed in 1813, five years before Illinois became a State. Prior to a scheduled baseball game between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Philadelphia Phillies at 7:30 p.m., Melanie Asadorian of Granite City, 1976 Miss Madison County Fair, will open the pre-game ceremonies singing our National Anthem.

The audience will include 27 Madison County majors and numerous state and county officials. Hagnauer, to open the game, will pitch to Madison County Sheriff John Maeras while Wilbur "Butch" Portell, clerk of the Madison County Circuit Court, wears the catchers mask.

Guelker offers soccer clinic at SIUE

Techniques of soccer will be taught during a soccer summer camp at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Monday through Friday, July 30 from 9 a.m. to noon.

The athletic summer camp, sponsored by the department of men's athletics and the Office of Conferences and Institutes at SIUE, will be taught by Bob Guelker, head soccer coach of the Cougars.

The camp is open to boys and girls entering the fourth through 12th grades. They will be instructed in basic and advanced techniques through development of skill analysis and will be given game situations and other essentials of the sport.

The camp costs $45. Checks should be made payable to Southern Illinois University and sent to Conferences and Institutes, Box 36, Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville, Illinois 62025.

Veto auto race noise exemption

A bill which passed both the Illinois Senate and House to exempt motor racing from state anti-noise regulations was vetoed by Gov. Dan Walker this week.

An overall effort by the Illinois Association for Motorsports (AMS) to convince state legislators to override the veto is now under way.

In announcing his decision, Gov. Walker said it would be wrong to undercut the authority of anti-pollution enforcement agencies by granting exemptions from controls to some industries.

The measure, sent to Walker in May after nearly a year of study, also would have exempted grain elevators in communities with populations under 2,500 from anti-noise regulations.

SECOND CONSECUTIVE WIN. Alabama's Lance Jones, left, swept to victory in every event he entered Tuesday night for a second straight week at Tri-City Speedway during an American Motorcycle Association-sanctioned racing program. Considered to be one of the nation's outstanding short-track racers, Jones defeated a star-studded field of riders, including Texans Guy McClure and Terry Poovey. At night is track official Billy Knight.

Jones repeats cycle victory

Alabama's Lance Jones captured his second consecutive American Motorcycle Association-sanctioned feature race here Tuesday evening on the quarter-mile dirt oval at Tri-City Speedway, leading Texans Guy McClure and Terry Poovey under the checkered flag. Jones also swept the events here the week before.

Jones, winner recently of a professional short-track meet at Springfield, won his heat race with Gary Rust finishing second, and then led Belleville's Doug Ahn across the finish line in a semi-main event before taking the feature race.

McClure, Poovey, Mike Escue, Rich Farrington and Jeff Mundlock joined Jones as heat race winners. Granite City's Marshall Patrick and Greg Falter placed second in their respective heat events.

Emerging victorious in semi-main events also were McClure, Poovey and Rust.

Demolition derby resumes following stock car race

Three Granite City sportsman class stock car drivers will attempt to close the gap in Gateway Auto Racing Association's point standings on current leader Kris Krohn of St. Louis when Tri-City Speedway's auto racing program gets underway Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Speedway Promoter Ed Bloom also announced today that last night's rain-shortened demolition derby will be continued Saturday, following the regular racing program.

Krohn heads the sportsman standings with 2,005 points, with the three Granite Cityans holding down the next three positions — Dean Acme 1,755, Chuck Milam 1,490 and Jack Yates 1,330.

Russ Wallace of Arnold, Mo., has a narrow lead over Bill Myers in the late model division standings. Wallace has 2,835 points and Myers of East Alton 2,550.

An auto thrill show opened last night's special program at Tri-City, followed by two demolition derby heat races before the rains deluged the area.

With another heat event and the demolition derby feature yet to be completed, Bloom says persons holding rain checks from last night will be admitted free of charge to view the demolition portion of the program which is slated to start at about 10:30 p.m. Saturday, following the regular racing program. The rain checks (ticket stubs) are not valid for Saturday's stock car racing program.

The victor of the double-elimination tournament will represent District 22 in a fifth division tourney at Steeleville July 29-Aug. 1.

Compete in Iowa

Seventeen athletes representing Southern Illinois, including four from Granite City, participated in a national all-star wrestling tournament during the weekend held first at Fort Madison, Iowa, and then Bettendorf, Iowa, in freestyle and Greco-Roman competition. Included in the field were Granite City brothers Kris and Keith Whelan, students at GCHS North, who competed last month in an attempt to earn a starting spot on the U.S. Olympic team.

Kris, at 105 pounds, captured the state meet in his division with a 21-4 decision over Randy Blocky of East Leyden.

Keith, at 114 pounds, was leading over his opponent and then lost by default after suffering a dislocated hip in his bout.

GCHS South's Sam Perkins, at 132 pounds, won at Fort Madison and then lost in the second tournament.

Suffers broken leg

Brian Voss, 7, of 1043A Delmar Ave., suffered a broken left leg when struck by the car of Mary Look, 2155 Washington Ave., in the 1300 block of Niedringhaus Avenue at 8:10 p.m. Wednesday. Witnesses said the boy ran from between two parked cars into the path of the southbound auto. He was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with the broken leg and bruises to his left forearm, leg, hip and chest.

Miss GC to make debut in Illinois pageant tonight

About 8 o'clock tonight, Karen Ann Koliste will make her debut on center stage in the 1976 Miss Illinois Pageant, representing this community as Miss Granite City.

The state pageant is being held at West Aurora High School, Aurora, where the gala talent-beauty contest has been staged the past few summers. Winner of the state competition will advance to the prestigious Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N.J., where girls from all 50 states will vie for national honors and scholarship awards.

Miss Granite City will compete this evening in both the swimsuit and evening gown sequences. Friday night, she will perform her talent segment on the organ.

Miss Koliste was escorted to Aurora Tuesday by Owen Ross, director of the Miss Greater City Pageant and the winner's personal manager, appointed by the local Jaycees. Mrs. Marlene Ross, who is serving as Miss Koliste's official chaperone and will remain with her throughout the week, and Dave Johnson, a Jaycee member.

Ross and Johnson returned to Aurora today.

This year, the state pageant has been reduced to a three-day event, instead of the usual four days. Saturday evening, the 10 finalists will repeat their appearances in a swimsuit and evening gown and perform their talent sequence.

Miss Koliste captured the Miss Granite City crown on April 25 in competition against several other candidates. The local contest was sponsored by the Granite City Jaycees at the Washington Theater.

An honor student in the School of Nursing at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Miss Koliste is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Koliste of Madison.

GC tax collections to begin Monday

Tax bills for Granite Cityans will be placed in the mail tomorrow and collections will begin Monday, Paul Rutledge, Granite City township collector, announced today.

Rutledge said his office was able to complete preparations for mailing the bills earlier than he anticipated and mailing on Friday will give local taxpayers an additional week to make payments. All bills will be due no later than Sept. 1. The first 1 per cent penalty will be added Sept. 2, Rutledge said.

While taxpayers will receive two bills, one each for half the amount of the total bill, payments must be made on the full amount.

Bills may be paid at any Granite City bank during regular banking hours, or may be sent by mail to Rutledge's office in the City Hall. No payments may be made in person at the collector's office.

Rutledge said that bills to be mailed tomorrow total $11,173,667 in taxes to be paid by Granite City property owners. Of this amount, $4,225,848 is for personal property, $911,767 for land (vacant) and $6,036,052 for improved real estate.

Town tax collectors in Nemo, Chouteau and Venice townships have announced they will have their bills in the mail through next week and will begin collections on Aug. 2.

Man dies after head-on crash at SIUE campus

Terrence Clark, 22, of 316 Walnut St., Collinsville, died at 2:45 a.m. today at Wood River Township Hospital from massive internal injuries suffered in an accident at 1:50 a.m. today on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The accident involving Clark's car and a cattle truck, occurred on North University Drive about 100 yards north of the entrance road to the Quonset Theater.

The driver of the truck, Michael Jordan, 24, Bonne Terre, Mo., was treated at Wood River Township Hospital for a shoulder injury. Both drivers were alone in their vehicles.

According to university police, Mr. Clark's southbound car apparently crossed the center-line of the road, colliding head-on with the northbound truck.

Mr. Clark was not a student at SIUE.

Incredible success record by farmers of area and nation

Quietly, with no fanfare and little media coverage, a real revolution has been taking place down on the American farm.

Local and U.S. farmers, in the finest tradition of their forefathers, are once again acting like free men. It is a story that bears telling again and again, especially during this Bicentennial year.

In an article entitled "The Nation's Greatest Success Story" in U.S. News and World Report, the man who tills the soil is given credit for keeping the dollar as strong as it still is, for helping to pay the bill for foreign oil, for feeding not only the people of this country, but also about millions all over the world.

But more important still, the magazine article points out, in a dramatic departure from just a few years ago the farmer of today has, for the most part, climbed down off taxpayers' backs.

As recently as 1972, federal subsidies to farmers were running at around $4 billion a year. This year, such payments are expected to total less than half a billion dollars.

And most of this, the magazine emphasizes, will be under disaster-relief programs to those hit by drought, floods or other catastrophes.

Whereas the government once stored glut of grain at taxpayer expense running to as high as $1,000,000 a day, farmers now hold their own grain until they are ready to sell on the open market.

Federal employee pension revision deserves high priority

Press-Record Washington Bureau—Congress should repeal the one per cent kicker that has allowed retired federal employees to receive pension benefits 13 per cent greater than the cost of living increase over the past six years.

This inflation bonus is unique to the federal system. No other private or public employees have it. It allows the federal retirees to profit from inflation.

It costs the taxpayers heavily — $1.6 billion so far and at least $11.2 billion in the future.

It goes to retired members of Congress, all retired federal civil service employees, all retired military personnel and those who have retired from the foreign service and the CIA.

All of these people deserve fair treatment. Many of them stayed in government service with the expectation of receiving a generous pension. The security of retirement benefits has always been one of the primary attractions of public employment.

But the 1 per cent kicker is an unfair burden on taxpayer.

Here's how it works. When the consumer price index rises three per cent or more, federal pensions are automatically increased to compensate fully for the increase. In addition, a special add-on bonus of one per cent is given. So the retiree gets four per cent whenever the index rises three per cent.

The bonus was originally intended to compensate for delays in receiving the increase. But when the cost of living goes up as fast and far as it has in recent years, the one per cent kicker can be added several times a year.

No longer is a catch-up. It is over-compensation.

On a recent vote on the floor of the House, the vote was 331-64 for repeal, but the issue faced more parliamentary hurdles before being finally settled.

1976 primaries prove crossovers' potential for mischief

Buffalo Evening News—Crossover voting in state primaries is an objectionable practice whose potential for political mischief has seldom been more plain than in this year's presidential primaries.

Allowing members of one political party to participate in another's selection of nominees for public office can weaken, and even contradict, the whole basis for political primary systems.

Their purpose, after all, is to ensure that rank-and-file members of a party choose which candidates they want to represent them in the general election as the nominee of their party for president or governor or senator or whatever.

Foolproof identification in future, but avoid facelifts

Some researchers at Case Western Reserve University are going to see if a computer can be programmed with human facial characteristics.

One application of this idea — if it pans out — is that a television camera could scan employees reporting for work, and the computer "recognizes" them it would unlock the turnstile — eliminating the need for human guards and employee identification cards.

Make sure you get tax refund

Q. I understand the IRS must re-deliver thousands of refund checks each year. How can I make certain my refund check is delivered? — T. S.

A. Most refund checks are not delivered because the taxpayer has moved and has failed to leave a forwarding address with the postal service. Many taxpayers neglect to correct the label attached to their tax forms. Making sure that the IRS receives your correct name and address on this label can expedite delivery of your refund check.

Taxpayers who contact the IRS about undelivered refund checks should give their name and address as it appeared on the return, and their present name, address, Social Security number and the type of form they filed.

Q. What can I do to correct an error on my return? — R. R.

A. Taxpayers who discover after filing their return that they made an error can correct the mistake by filing a Form 1040X. The form is available at local IRS offices or can be obtained by using the handy order blank in the tax package.

Some of the more common tax return errors that can be corrected on a 1040X include failing to report income, forgetting to claim deductions, or mistakes in the amount of credit claimed.

On the Form 1040X, specially designed to process corrections — taxpayers need only fill in the changed portions of their return. The 1040X form must be filed by taxpayers within three years from the due date of the original return or two years from the date of the tax payment, whichever is later.

Some nursing homes failing requirements

By JOAN MURARO
SPRINGFIELD — Scattered in Illinois are roughly 100 nursing homes where the elderly and disabled residents routinely receive less than quality care.

These places are known, but probably will stay in business anyway, since "dilemma people usually do just enough to get by."

Fortunately for the nearly 91,000 persons who occupy beds in the state's 980 nursing homes, 25 per cent of the operations are consistently good in overall performance.

Another 64 per cent fall into a middle category, according to Dr. Michael A. Werckle, who heads the state Public Health Department's division of long term care facilities.

What concerns him are the roughly 11 per cent which he says consistently offer poor performance, "promising to do things, correct things, then backing off and doing just enough to get by."

It also troubles Dr. Werckle that he cannot make available to the public, in a way that can be easily understood, how various homes in a given area rank in relation to each other. He recently announced he wanted to publish, quarterly, just such a comparison but was told by legal counsel he has no authority to do so.

"I think it's absurd," he says, "that we license these facilities, we rate them, we can provide this information on an individual basis to persons who ask for it, but we can't tell people who know they are considering putting a friend or relative into a badly run facility."

Though Dr. Werckle in the 2½ years he has been in the department has been frustrated by the "widespread" "they have not always been successful in getting by."

So far in that time, 216 have been closed — not all of them, he stresses, operations which tried to "get by." Many of them, he says, were small facilities which decided they could not meet the cost of upgrading to meet new, tighter standards.

At one time, Dr. Werckle says, the state had about 1,100 long-term care facilities with 87,000 beds. Now, with 969 facilities, there are almost 91,000 beds available. However, the shift to larger facilities means they are likely to be in larger communities while the smaller operations which have closed were often housed in converted residences in smaller communities. The beds are there but often not where some residents would like to stay — in or near home towns and families.

In most cases these homes failed to meet physical standards, but Dr. Werckle is increasingly concerned with obtaining a rating system which would evaluate the quality of services rendered as well. The state received a $400,000 federal grant to develop such a system, and in two years has tested the Quality Evaluation System (QES), the state had more than 100 nursing homes in a pilot project.

Basically seeking to determine "what are the needs, and how are they being met?" it would come close to the federal standards used in determining if institutions qualify for Medicare and Medicaid funds. Dr. Werckle would like to avoid duplication by using federal certification as the state's licensure procedures with federal reimbursement for its share. Federal consent would be needed.

Recently in Washington he asked federal authorities for

AMERICA PAST, PRESENT, FUTURE Architecture

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles celebrating the Bicentennial. Each one describes a separate aspect of American life as it appeared 200 years ago, as it stands today, and as it is likely to look in 2076, as envisioned by specialists in that particular field. This article deals with architecture.

By ROBERT BETTS

The earliest style of American architecture was the Puritan meeting house.

Safe from persecution, free for the first time to build their own special places of worship, the Puritans turned their backs on conventional church design and planned their own austere, four-square frame structures. Quaker meetings had separate doors for the sexes.

Otherwise, there was not much that was original about architecture in the original 13 Colonies. The styles followed those of the old world, from English Tudor and German Gothic to classic Greek and Roman.

Most towns were somber clusters of steep-roofed wood, stone or brick houses huddled together along crooked streets. New York had a stateroom, the Dutch influence evident in the high-stepped gables which graced its three-story houses.

Philadelphia boasted elegant Georgian mansions and spacious public buildings. The largest and most important city, it reflected growing Colonial prosperity. One Englishman declared it was fast becoming "The London of America."

By the time of the Revolution, however, a distinctive American style was emerging in the Colonies, adapted to the climate and the availability of materials.

Only 8 per cent of the 2½ million inhabitants lived in towns. Today, 70 per cent of the U.S. population are urban dwellers, living and working in the surrounding areas, hardly have been imagined by their forefathers.

Development of the elevator, improved glass and refinement of steelmaking technology made possible the skyscraper, originally called "cloudscraper."

This towering symbol of America is most manifest in New York, the world's biggest metropolis, where nearly 100 buildings rise above 500 feet. Tallest are the twin towers of the 110-story, 1,333-foot-high World Trade Center, dwarfing Manhattan's oldest church building, St. Paul's Chapel, where Washington worshipped.

The World Trade Center was the world's tallest building until it was topped recently by the 1,450-foot-high Sears Tower in Chicago.

Environmental concerns are forcing today's architects to design buildings that transcend merely functional requirements and meet social as well as aesthetic demands.

Washington architect, Roy MacLean, architectural editor for the World Future Society, co-founder and director of planning for the Future Options Room, sees the city of 1976 as "a dinosaur facing extinction."

According to Mason, the most important trend in architecture is "the realization that architects must work with urban planners, social scientists and many other people to create a built environment that will meet everyone's needs."

He sees developing technology over the next 100 years having huge impact on the city. New communications breakthroughs will bring many of the functions of the city — shopping, medical service, entertainment, recreation, education and information to the home. This will make the functions of today's cities obsolete, Mason predicts.

Alternative sources of energy also will have their impact. With solar energy, a building could become a producer as well as consumer. Underground buildings would reduce energy demands because of the earth's superior insulating qualities.

New materials will combine with new systems of building and concepts of structure for the home of the future, says Mason. New materials could evolve in much the same way as a spider spins its web: a wrapping of continuous strands of resin-coated glass filaments around a collapsible mold would produce on-site housing shells. Buildings could be "spun" by an extrusion process which sprays plastic foam like shaving cream from a nozzle can, except that the foam would rise and harden very quickly. Urethane foam could be sprayed on a variety of molds or forms to create pleasing exteriors as well as novel interior space.

"CALL THE NOMINATING COMMITTEE. TELL THEM HE FOUND A RUNNING MATE THAT ACCURATELY REFLECTS HIS VIEWS."

Flexibility will be the byword for housing in the 21st Century, says Mason. Structures will be collapsible so they can be moved from site to site. Precast sections of fiberglass capable of being connected to flexible corridors will permit many design variations.

Structural forms of the future could include: Cellular, in which single modules with walls serving as both support and space dividers can be interchanged, added to and subtracted from; Clip-on architecture — a central stable core and one or more movable structures, enabling people to take their "capsules" from city to city as they move; Container or domed architecture, a form enabling sections of the arctic and vast desert areas to be enclosed within dome skins which would create micro-climates and shield people from the weather.

One possible answer to urban overcrowding could be cities in the sea. The structures either would be stable like the platforms used for offshore drilling, or floating on lightweight plastics. An alternative for recreation would be large ocean resorts located in the depths of the sea.

There could also be cities in the sky — large orbiting space habitats that can be linked and unlinked.

Mason feels that although all of the above scenarios are real possibilities, the life-style of 2076 probably will be some modification of them all.

Fantastic growth of CB radio

By BOB HULL

If you're a motorist who hasn't bought a citizen's band radio because you thought it was just a fad that would quickly disappear, here's some disappointing news for you:

The CB radio craze is growing at such a fantastic rate that 1976 sales are expected to top eight million units for a dollar volume of more than $1.5 billion. These figures are double those of 1975, according to Chilton's Automotive Marketing magazine.

Not only that, but it seems the market has barely been tapped. The sales manager of one major manufacturer says CB "has become the fastest moving segment of the consumer electronics business today. With under 10 per cent saturation of the car population, there's plenty of room for additional growth."

Another manufacturer predicts that "the marketplace will continue to grow until we reach at least $2 million in sales. At that point the CB market will have reached full maturity and will proceed to expand in a less dramatic manner with new equipment and replacement sales."

And that's not all. The next milestone in the development of CB equipment awaits a Federal Communications Commission decision on a proposed channel expansion. The CB industry is ready to start production of new units as soon as the channel expansion proposal goes through.

County highway jobs on bid call by state

Bids valued at $37 million will be taken for 129 road improvement and three mine reclamation projects on Friday, July 30, according to the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Six Madison County projects are included in the bid call. They include:

Channelization of the intersections of Illinois 157 and Belt Line Road with base course and resurfacing including modernization of traffic signals and signs, all at the northwest edge of Collinsville.

Resurfacing of 2.10 miles of Fosterburg Road between Illinois 140 east of Alton and Fosterburg.

Slope stabilization on 14 of a mile of Black Lane just north of Interstate 70 between Fairmont City and Collinsville.

Stone rip-rap and pipe repairs on 4.21 miles of the Great River Road from southwest edge of Alton, northwest to the Madison-Jersey County line.

Concrete pavement 46 of a mile between Annex Street and Rodgers Avenue, Alton, including a railroad subway structure carrying the Illinois Central Gulf railroad over Illinois 140.

Concrete surfacing on 1.28 miles of Madison County Highway 59 from Delmar Ave. in Hartford East to Illinois 111 in Roxana.

Enlists in Army

Lawrence J. Pope, husband of Betty Pope of Granite City, has enlisted in the U.S. Army through the assistance of the Army recruiting station located at 1206 Niedringhaus Ave., here. He will undergo basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C., and will go on to Fort Gordon, Ga. for training in voice communications.

RALPH'S TEXACO
22ND & MADISON AVE.

In preparation for his 1976 opinion survey, Rep. Paul Findley of Pittsfield got a preliminary assessment of the 10 topics of greatest interest from his team of 500 advisers in January.

Abortion and guns led the issues in the Republican congressman's district. They are also planks in the Democratic Party's platform. On abortion, Democrats say the party recognizes the religious and ethical concerns of many Americans, but there should be no constitutional amendment to ban abortion.

On guns, the Democrats' platform calls for a ban on "Saturday night specials" plus better federal-state control over manufacture, assembly, distribution and possession of handguns.

Jimmy Carter, so it was reported, was not over the thorny issues of abortion and guns, as well as amnesty, to his vice-presidential teammate.

Reporting the results of his survey earlier this month, Findley said 13,820 respondents believed the question of abortion should be decided by the woman and her doctor. More than 10,000 thought it should be permitted if pregnancy results from rape or incest, while 8,000 would approve if a grossly handicapped infant were likely.

About 1,300 said no circumstance warrants abortion. One of the largest responses, 19,679, demanded mandatory prison sentences for crimes committed by armed felons. More than 7,000 would prohibit ownership of "Saturday night specials" and 5,000 would require federal registration of all handguns. Some 1,500 would prohibit ownership of all handguns.

Findley's survey touched on another plank adopted by the Democrats.

On welfare, Democrats said a program of income maintenance should replace the current system. This plank would guarantee a minimum income to the working poor and those unable to work. The able-bodied would be required to accept work or job training.

Findley asked if food stamps should be limited to persons whose annual incomes are below the poverty level. The second highest response, 19,855, said yes, stamps should be limited to the poor.

The highest affirmative response, 20,396, came on the question of legislation to authorize removal of federal judges for incompetency or misconduct. They can be removed now only by impeachment.

Questions drawing heavy response turned on foreign affairs.

More than 16,000 thought the United States has been "too compromising" in its policy of detente with the Soviet Union.

Another 14,000 plus said the United States should continue its present low level of diplomatic contact with the peoples Republic of China while seeking to increase trade.

More than 11,000 said only enough controls should be placed on agricultural exports to assure enough for domestic needs in a national emergency.

One topic, drawing a highly fragmented response, did not trouble Democrats in New York. That was on the question of daylight savings time. More than 8,200 said keep it at eight months a year, 6,000 said extend it year-round, 4,600 were for dropping it completely, and 3,500 called for a six-month period.

Transit survey under way

A telephone survey of 1,000 randomly selected households throughout the metropolitan area is being conducted during these last two weeks of July in an effort to identify area residents' attitudes about and needs for mass transit services.

The survey is part of the Mass Transit Program being conducted by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council in cooperation with the Bi-State Development Agency. Intended to result in the development of a transit system to provide improved services to residents of the region, the program will provide an in-depth analysis of transit needs and existing services, facilities, and technologies applicable to this area.

Prior to the survey, households which have been selected for the random sampling are receiving letters explaining the purpose of the program and the type of information being sought during telephone interviews.

That information will include attitudes toward bus service in the St. Louis area, and statistics on the number and purpose of trips and modes of transportation of each member of the household.

Interviewers also are asking for other general information, such as the size of the family and the number of persons in the household who are employed.

To assist individuals in preparing for the interview, "travel record" forms have been enclosed with the introductory letters. Household members are being asked to keep a record of the number and purpose of trips and the type of transportation used on a specified day.

John Cromwell, program director for the East-West

Gateway Mass Transit Program, explained that the telephone survey is only one aspect of efforts to gather information about transit needs in the area.

In addition, personal interviews will be conducted with numerous community leaders in an attempt to determine whether persons who are dependent on mass transit have problems related to transit schedules and routes which could be solved with additional services.

Persons who rely mainly on transit for their transportation will also be interviewed in a later survey.

The surveys are being conducted by W. V. Rouse Company of Evanston, Ill., consultants retained by East-West Gateway for the transit needs analysis of the Mass Transit Program.

The Mass Transit Program, a

$400,000 federally funded study, is the culmination of a series of efforts designed to develop a transit system molded around the needs of the metropolitan region. In March 1974, the Gateway board of directors agreed that a 1971 rapid transit feasibility study, which proposed for consideration an 86-mile, $2 billion rapid transit system for the region was too expensive, overdesigned, and lacked public support. As a result the board directed the Gateway staff to determine other transit improvement alternatives which would reduce costs and more adequately utilize existing transportation facilities. The current Mass Transit Program is a result of that directive.

Proper training key to vital work force

Community colleges and area vocational centers are essential to economic progress, Michael J. Howlett, Democratic candidate for governor, said Tuesday.

Speaking at Wabash Valley College at Mount Carmel, Ill., on the second day of his nine-day Southern Illinois tour, Howlett said he would ask the State Board of Education, the Board of Higher Education, the Community College Board and the General Assembly to expand support for "these job-providing programs."

"Industry will expand or locate only where it can obtain the skilled labor it needs," said Howlett. "Community colleges and area vocational centers are keys to a quality work force."

"Southern Illinois has made enormous progress in the last 10 years in developing programs to train and retain those who want to work."

Ten years ago, Southern Illinois was served by only six community colleges with a full-time enrollment of 3,000 students. Last year, the area had 10 community colleges with more than five times as many full-time students.

Another 16,000 attend on a part-time basis - an increase of more than 13,000 over 10 years ago.

He said growth of area vocational centers has been equally dramatic. The number has increased from four to six in the last five years, and the student population has tripled.

Howlett said Wabash Valley College has the best mine training program in Illinois.

"Your students learn everything there is to know about electricity, ventilation, roof and rib control, hydraulics and other mechanical fields necessary to make our mines the most productive in the country," he said.

"The coal industry has enormous potential for solving Illinois' economic woes at the same time it helps America achieve energy independence. It cannot do so, however, unless we have an adequate supply of well-trained mine supervisors and mechanics."

He said three Southern Illinois colleges, including Reid Lake and Southeastern, with Wabash Valley, offer excellent training programs.

"We must be prepared to expand them even more rapidly to avoid a shortage of skilled miners," said Howlett.

At least 11 new mines are expected to open in southern Illinois by 1981. Most will be operated by 1979. The five largest coal producers in Southern Illinois estimate they will require 6,000 new miners within the next two years. Some 20 to 35 per cent will require training.

"We cannot allow Southern Illinois' economic progress to be impeded by a shortage of well-trained workers."

Lindberg says budget cut, tax acceleration necessary

The General Assembly has marked at least $70 million more for spending for the state's day-to-day operations next year than the state can possibly afford, Comptroller George Lindberg said in his monthly fiscal review.

The governor must now pare at least that $70 million from the general funds appropriations made by the legislature before it adjourned earlier this month, Lindberg said.

In addition, the comptroller said, it will be necessary for lawmakers to approve much-discussed tax acceleration legislation either in the fall or in January to restore budgetary balance.

"If the General Assembly members do not approve the tax acceleration proposals, then the governor's budget will be further unbalanced by about $95 million by early next year," Lindberg said.

"I urge the governor to stick to his guns on the tax acceleration plan. Otherwise educational funding and other vital programs serving Illinoisans will suffer more than they have already," Lindberg said.

He reviewed the progress of his 19-point plan to avert a tax increase and balance the budget and noted that the plan had passed its first hurdle.

Three key elements have been realized. The fiscal 1976 general funds deficit was less than the $215 million maximum outlined in Lindberg's plan; supplemental appropriations to complete fiscal 76 did not exceed the $189 million level in the plan, and the General Assembly passed legislation to smooth the huge September special education and pupil transportation payment into quarterly allocations.

"The schools will not be harmed by smoothing their reimbursements and, as recommended in the comptroller's plan, the legislation provides for schools to be compensated for any interest they might incur," Lindberg said.

The comptroller's monthly fiscal report also termed fiscal year 76, which ended June 30, as "one of the most difficult fiscal years in recent memory. It was the biggest deficit year in state history," while saw spending exceed income in the General Funds by $189 million."

Applications accepted for U.S. Coast Guard Academy

The United States Coast Guard Academy has announced that it is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as cadet, U.S. Coast Guard, Class of 1981.

Applications are being accepted from both men and women. Appointments to the Coast Guard Academy are made solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas.

Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to Dec. 15, 1976. Candidates must arrange to participate in either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or American College Testing Assessment (ACT) prior to or including the Nov. 20, 1976, administration for the ACT and the Dec. 4, 1976, administration for the SAT.

The competition for appointment as cadet is based on the candidate's high school rank, performance on either the SAT or ACT, and leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs and/or part-time employment.

Most successful candidates rank in the top quarter of their high school class and demonstrate proficiency in both the mathematical and applied science fields.

To qualify for the competition, an applicant must be unmarried and must have reached the age of 17, but not 22, by July 1, 1977. All applicants must be assured of high school graduation by June 30, 1977.

Applicants must have completed three units in English, and three in mathematics including algebra and plane or coordinate geometry or their equivalents, and must fulfill basic physical and moral requirements.

Some reducing plans may shrink wallet—not waist

By WILLIAM J. SCOTT
Illinois Attorney General

Just about everyone has a diet plan, but you—and you've decided that it's reduce, now or never.

That's fine. (Though many physicians agree that the amount of sun needed to give those "nice" tans isn't all that good for you.)

But beware of fad diet preparations and reducing organizations that shrink the wallet but not the waist.

There are some reducing organizations that are legitimate and do wonders for dieters. But deceptive practices are, unfortunately, all too common in the areas of health clubs, reducing salons, diet preparations and devices, and related businesses.

And often over and above the ripoff in money is the abuse of emotions. Prospective customers are shown deceptive "before and after" pictures; encouraged that they will become "loveable"; and tantalized into believing that their lives will change for the better nearly overnight as a result of purchasing the fat-off treatment.

Need advocates to aid families

The Illinois Department of Children and Family Services is seeking applications for child and family advocates to form relationships with and provide services to troubled families and teenagers in the Madison County area.

Advocates may be between the ages of 18 and 60. There are no specific educational requirements for the position. "Advocates function as paid big brothers and big sisters," according to Al Scherba of the department's Granite City office. They are independent contractors and are paid $2.25 per hour and 12 cents per mile for travel. Advocates may help a client find housing, get a job, or get enrolled in a training program. In any case, there are specific goals for each assignment as well as a specific time limit for accomplishing objectives.

Advocates have been used extensively in Madison-St. Clair Counties since July 1975, and have proven to be an asset in working with troubled teens and families.

For more information about the department's advocate program, Quad-Cityans may call Al Scherba at 876-8955.

A Long Distance phone call that costs you one dollar during the daytime...

costs just 65¢ in the evening after 5 p.m....

and only 40¢ on the weekend before 5 p.m. Sunday

Surprising how you can cut the cost of Long Distance to any other state in the U.S. by dialing direct during bargain calling times. For instance, you save more than one-third when you call after 5 p.m. on weekdays. And more than one-half on the weekend—anytime Saturday or before 5 p.m. Sunday. Isn't that worth waiting for?

Granite City High School North students attending summer workshops were Betsy Slate and Gay Bowler, seated, and Kastelic and Dawn Walker. Attending but not present for the picture was Mike Taylor.

Speech students attend workshops

Five advanced speech students from Granite City High School North attended summer speech workshops held at several universities in Illinois. Jon Kastelic and Mike Taylor attended a four-week debate and public speaking workshop at Bradley University in Peoria. Dawn Walker, Betsy Slate and Gay Bowler attended a two-week theater workshop at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston.

Kastelic and Taylor participated in debate, oratory, and extemporaneous speaking classes at Bradley. They advanced to the semi-finals in debate competition.

Kastelic won second place in oratory competition, first place in extemporaneous speaking competition and ranked fourth in the over-all speaker category.

Taylor won fifth in oratory competition.

Awards were presented at the end of the workshop banquet with 30 students from throughout the United States attending the debate and public speaking workshop.

Water, Slate and Bowler participated in a variety of theater activities at Eastern Illinois University.

These activities included improvisations, monologues and duet and group scenes. Each student presented a final performance on the last day of the workshop.

Dr. Goni Michaeloff, chairman of the speech department at North said, "I like to encourage advanced speech students to attend university summer workshops. This helps broaden the intellectual ability of the student and heightens their creative talent."

"Students also enjoy working with other students from Illinois and other states."

"Advanced speech students at North participate in public speaking contests throughout the school year in competition for the scholarships to these workshops."

Scholarships were awarded by the Granite City Ladies Coterie, Madison County Women's Federation Club, Bradley University and the North Speech department.

Budget enough for vacation

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Home Economics
Extension Adviser

Driving cross-country provides flexibility and some cost-savings, but it may not be inexpensive. Be sure you budget enough for vacation trips, especially for costs en route.

To help you reasonably estimate travel costs while on the road, one major motor club has projected average expenditures for driving in the United States during this Bicentennial summer. These include:

- $24 daily for snacks and meals in restaurants for two adults.
- $25 for each night of lodging for two adults.
- $10 additional per day for each child's food and lodging expense.
- $5 per 100 miles of travel for gas and oil, based on 13 miles per gallon.

Add to this turnpike tolls, souvenir purchases and amusement stops. If you have a car, don't forget boarding costs, which could be $4 or more a day for a small dog.

Once you arrive at your destination, meal costs will be determined by your planned activities. Along with food and lodging costs, budget enough for admission fees to parks, zoos, art museums, theater tickets and shopping.

These are average expenditures. Meal costs could be reduced, of course, if you picnic along the way. You can cut down on lodging costs by visiting resorts off-season or selecting accommodations a short distance away from the main highways.

CROWNING CEREMONY. Melanie Asadorian, 19, of Granite City is officially crowned the first Miss Madison County Fair as Miss Illinois County Fair, Elaine Grossman, of Ohio, Ill., places the sparkling tiara on her head. The new queen will reign over the week-long Madison County Fair in Highland, beginning Sunday, and appear at Busch Stadium, St. Louis, on Madison County Night, Aug. 5, and at the Illinois State Fair, Aug. 13.

POISE and confidence are evident as Melanie Asadorian, Miss Madison County Fair, appears in the evening gown segment.

MISS CONGENIALITY Tami Lynn Eck, 18, of Venice hears fellow contestants have chosen her the candidate with the best personality and friendliest in the pageant. She receives the trophy from Lester Knebel, Madison County Fair Association vice-president. Later, Tami Lynn was named third runnerup in the competition. She was 1976 class salutatorian at Venice High School and served as prom queen. She plans to attend Southern Illinois University.

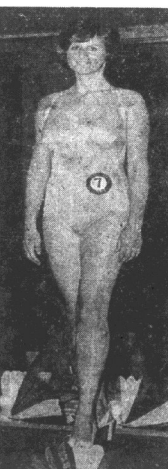

A gala evening filled with many memories was encountered by the 19 contestants in the first-ever Miss Madison County Fair Pageant. Shared experiences and new friends were among the pageant's fringe benefits, the candidates discovered. Photos by Stephen Kempf.

SHANNON MARMION, 20, an employee of First Granite City Savings and Loan Association, wears a flowing orange gown.

FIRST RUNNERUP is diminutive Pamela Jean Tester, 16, an A-average student at Granite City High School North, who has worked through her church with the underprivileged. She is five feet, two inches tall and weighs 95 pounds. Her engaging smile and poised bearing captured the judges' votes.

CAROL DOUGLAS, 17, who graduated this year from Granite City High School North, gives the cameraman a shy smile.

Mary Gibbons becomes Mrs. Anthony M. Golec

Miss Mary Gail Gibbons became the bride of Anthony Michael Golec on July 3, at 7 p.m. The double-ring candlelight ceremony was performed at First United Methodist Church, Collinsville, by Dr. Donald L. Lowe, pastor of First United Methodist Church, and the Rev. Joseph C. Hays, pastor of the Church of St. Stephen the Protomartyr, Caseyville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Gibbons of Collinsville. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Anthony J. Golec of Caseyville, and the late Mr. Golec, and nephew of George J. Kries Jr. of Granite City.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a canella-tone ivory jersey gown with a Queen Anne collar and oval neckline edged in tiny fringed imported Venice lace and framed with a ring of Venice lace appliques.

The tapered long sleeves were edged and appliqued with the same detail and the natural waistline was edged with the same fringed Venice lace to accent the circle-cut skirt, which extended into a court train.

Her waist-length mantilla veil was bordered with rolled jersey and interspersed with Venice lace appliques secured by a tiny shell crown was covered in matching lace.

She carried a cascade of white Sweetheart roses centered with roses, baby's breath and English ivy tied with ivory velvet ribbons.

Mrs. Robert C. Golec, sister-in-law of the groom, was the matron of honor. Her floor-length gown was of light blue polyester with empire waist, A-line skirt, and long organza sleeves gathered onto lace at the wrist, worn with a sleeveless floor-length blue lace coat with mandarin collar.

She carried a cascade of yellow daisy pomps accented with blue carnations, baby's breath and English ivy tied with blue velvet ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Majetic, and Wilma C. Riggs. They wore yellow polyester gowns and lace coats identical to that of the matron of honor and carried cascades of blue daisy pomps accented with yellow carnations, baby's breath and English ivy tied with blue velvet ribbons.

Robert C. Golec attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Hugh P. Gibbons, and Dr. James P. Gibbons, brothers of the bride. Robert Evans Chapman and Medill Donovan Hubach, served as ushers. Clifford William Gibbons and Steven D. Gibbons, nephews of the bride, were acolytes.

Mrs. Lawrence Krupp provided the organ music for the ceremony. The selections included "Sunrise, Sunset," "Whither Thou Goest," "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken," "Pans Angelicus," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Traumerlei," "Ave Maria" The Lord's Prayer and "Now Thank We All Our God." Miss Cynthia Gibbons, niece of the bride, presided at the guest book.

A reception followed the ceremony at Voigt Hall of St. Stephen parish, Caseyville. Dancing was to the music of the Tune Twisters.

MR. AND MRS. TIMOTHY ELLIOTT. They were united in marriage in an afternoon ceremony at the Walnut Street Baptist Church, Carbondale. The bride is the former Carla Jane Watkins, a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Carl Watkins of Carbondale, former residents.

Carla Watkins marries Timothy Jay Elliott

An out-of-town wedding of interest here was that of Miss Carla Jane Watkins, a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Carl Watkins, 208 South Rod Lane, Carbondale, former residents, and Timothy Jay Elliott, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Elliott, 2844 Grand Ave., Granite City, on June 26 at the Walnut Street Baptist Church, Carbondale.

The 2 o'clock afternoon ceremony was performed by the Rev. Watkins, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Paul Hicks, before an arch decorated with daisies and pink, blue and yellow blossoms intermingled with greenery.

Organist Jack Jenkins accompanied Don Kelly as he sang, "Morning Has Broken," "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her wedding the former Miss Watkins chose a white Empire style gown fashioned with a high neckline and fitted bodice with a lace yoke edged with a lace ruffle to create a pinafare effect.

The long sleeves were made with matching lace and bridal satin and tightly gathered at the wrists with wide cuffs. A wide ruffled flounce encircled the hem of the softly flowing skirt which extended into a chapel train.

She wore a lace cap to hold in place a melody length veil of bridal illusion and she held a colonial bouquet of daisies and baby's breath in pastel shades.

Maid of honor Leisa Turner was dressed in a blue dotted swiss sleeveless Empire gown complemented with a voile cape. The fully gathered skirt featured a ruffled flounce at the hemline.

Bridesmaids Janet Gauen, Mrs. Diane Simon and Cindy Vaughn, selected dotted swiss floor length dresses in yellow, green and pink hues.

Each attendant held a bouquet of daisies and baby's breath to match their gowns.

Kristen Herte served as flower girl and wore a blue dotted swiss frock made with an Empire waistline, high neck and short sleeves. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Attending the groom as best man was Paul Miles, Groomsmen and ushers included Tom McInerney, Ken Simon, Paul Stavdhar, Mark Watkins, a brother of the bride and Jim Johnson.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall after the service. Members of the bridal party and their families attended a rehearsal dinner at the Sirlan Stockade Restaurant in Carbondale on the evening prior to the wedding.

The newly married couple are now residing in Granite City following a wedding trip to Kentucky Lake.

The bride graduated from John A. Logan Junior College, Carverville, Ill. The groom attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for two years. He is now employed as a clerk at Tri-City Grocery, Edwardsville.

MR. AND MRS. ANTHONY GOLEC whose wedding took place at the First United Methodist Church, Collinsville. Formerly Mary Gail Gibbons, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Gibbons of Collinsville.

Baptist Youth Choir to sing at Mitchell

The Concord Baptist Churches Youth Choir, directed by Minister of Music from Chattanooga, Tenn. David T. Richardson is scheduled to present a musical Bible teaching concert at the First Baptist Church, 668 English Place, Mitchell, on Sunday at 7 p.m.

The tour began at Concord, continued through Illinois and into Wisconsin, stopping at Tilleda, and back through Illinois with a stop at Peoria for a concert, then to Mitchell.

Backyard Bible schools were conducted along with the music in presenting the Gospel to young people throughout these areas. Puppets also were used in presenting the message of Christ.

Richardson spent several years of his ministry in the Third Baptist Church before taking the position with the Concord Baptist Church at Chattanooga. Many young people in this area will remember his ministry with him as he directed several associational and special event choirs with them.

The Gospel Music Youth Tour Choir will consist of about 35 voices. They will give their concert for everyone who wishes to attend the service. The parents of the director, Rev. W. J. and Mrs. Richardson, live in Mitchell and serve the First Baptist Church there. The church has invited all who wish to attend.

A NEW CONCEPT FROM TELL CITY

Why didn't they think of it before? All of us know someone who struggles to get up from a low-seated rocker or chair. Someone too proud to ask for help. Now, Tell City has built the help right into this High 'n' Easy Rocker. Runners are flatter, have a backstop. So it won't rock back as far. Won't tilt forward when you put weight on the arms. You can push going up, brake going down. Seat is higher, too, so you don't go down as far. It's comfortable, too—with a high back to lean your head against. And curved spindles to fit your spine. Just right for less active people who want a rocker that's less active. Buy it for someone you love. Even if that someone is you.

The High 'n' Easy Rocker

- Professionally engineered for less active people.

11-day Illinois State Fair opens Aug. 12

Variety will be the spice of the 1976 Illinois State Fair, which has been expanded to 11 days this year to accommodate a host of new attractions.

Entitled "Freedom Fair '76" for the Bicentennial year, the Aug. 12-22 fair will pay special tribute to the state's ethnic heritage and early history.

The fair also will feature the nation's largest livestock show, a glittering line-up of evening entertainment, high-stakes harness racing, United States Auto Club auto racing, a midway with more than 35 rides and several special program areas.

Heritage Square, an 80,000 square foot tract across from the grandstand, is a new attraction that will offer ethnic food, arts and crafts, and dancing and singing by various groups from around the state.

Columbian, German-American, Indian, Lithuanian, Polish-American, Serbian and Ukrainian commodities will be just a few features of the 34 ethnic food booths at Heritage Square. Entertainment will be continuous on a 40-by-40-foot stage.

Traveling photographic exhibits, "Forgotten Contributions: Women in Illinois History," will be on display in the Early Illinois Building, and Bicentennial quilts and desserts entries will be in the Exposition Building.

Two topics of modern-day importance will be explored with exhibits and displays in the new Aviation and Energy tents. The Aviation tent will feature antique, home-built, corporate and military aircraft. Two maverick designers, Beardstown brothers Russell and Francis Halligan, will exhibit their unique vertical flying designs with the home-built aircraft.

Solar energy and the conservation of energy will be the dominant themes of exhibit in the Energy tent. A fully-electric automobile of the future will also be displayed.

In the livestock arena more than 13,000 head of livestock will be entered in competition in one again make the State Fair the nation's largest livestock show.

Judging in the various livestock classes begins Aug. 12 and continues through most of the fair in the 10 livestock show rings.

Livestock competition climaxes Tuesday, Aug. 17, with the Auction of Champions at 1 p.m. in the Coliseum. A new across-the-board sale of meat producers, including the Grand Champion steer, barrow, wether, rabbit meat pen and poultry pen of broilers, promises to add even more excitement to the always-popular auction.

A revue of all livestock champions is scheduled Wednesday, Aug. 18, at 7 p.m. in the Coliseum, followed by the six-hitch Draft Horse finals. Country music artists Barry Young and Jan Howard will provide entertainment.

The world famous Society Horse Show, which actually begins one day before the fair on Aug. 11, will feature seven days of competition in the Coliseum. The equally renowned Western Horse Show will occupy the Coliseum during the final four days to the fair.

There will be much more happening on the fairgrounds than just livestock competition, however. At the grandstand, the days will begin with fast-paced horse or auto racing and conclude with the sounds of music.

Five days of harness racing, with combined purses of an estimated $801,000, begins Monday, Aug. 16, with colts stakes racing. The harness racing highlight will come Thursday, Aug. 19, with the three-year-old Future Futurity division trotting race—considered a preview to the prestigious Hambletonian.

Speed also will be the name of the game during the first weekend of the fair in the United States Auto Club races. Two 100-mile races will be run, with dirt cars racing Saturday, Aug. 21, and stock cars Sunday, Aug. 22.

Last year's stock car champion Butch Hartman and dirt car winner Al Unser will return to defend their titles. Racing king A. J. Foyt is expected to join the field on the one-mile track.

Although slower and less glamorous, tractors will create an excitement all their own in the State Championship Tractor Pull, Aug. 19 and 14. Eight champion drivers will be returning to do battle in competition that features 14 classes.

Evening grandstand entertainment will include Minnie Pearl, Pee Wee King, Jean Shepard and the Illinois Country Opry during quarter horse racing finals, Aug. 12; Seals and Crofts, Aug. 13; and Tammy Wynette and the Statler Brothers, Aug. 14.

Other performers include Three Dog Night, Aug. 16; Waylon Jennings and the Waylors, Jessi Colter and Tompall and his Outlaw Band, Aug. 17; The Osmonds, Aug. 18; Na Seakia, Aug. 19; Loretta Lynn and Conway Twitty, Aug. 20; Blood, Sweat & Tears, Aug. 21; and Roger Miller, Aug. 22.

Tickets for all performances except the Aug. 12 show are $6, $5, $4 and $2. Tickets for the Aug. 12 show are $5, $4 and $1. Ticket orders should be mailed to the Illinois State Fair Ticket Office, Box 576, Springfield, Ill., 62705. For ticket information phone (217) 782-1776.

Entertainment also will be provided in the three beer garden areas—the Folk Festival Beer Garden, the Country Music Beer Garden and Top of the Fair Beer Garden—all also served at the grandstand.

The church is furnishing the meat and beverages. Each family is requested to bring a covered dish. The public is cordially invited.

Open House will continue in the Dining Hall until 5:00 P.M. in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Walter Smith's 58th Wedding Anniversary.

"Worlds" of displays and entertainment will add even more to the fair's variety of attractions. Youth World, Teen World, Agri-World, Carnival World, Women's World and Celebration World will offer exhibits and displays of special interest.

Youth World offers free entertainment for kids of all ages including a three-ring circus, a petting zoo, animal shows and continuous stage performances. Youth-oriented music, shops and exhibits will fill Teen World.

Agri-World, in its second year, will feature agriculture implements of all kinds and sizes. The 10-acre Agri-World is just north of the major livestock areas.

Gooding's Million Dollar Midway will return to Carnival World this year with two new imported rides—the Fire Ball from Switzerland and the Swiss Bob from Germany. Past favorites such as the giant double Ferris Wheel and the Monster will be back.

Fair activities will be kicked off on Opening Day, Aug. 12, with ribbon cutting ceremonies at noon. The State Fair Parade, with Mickey Mouse as Grand Marshal, will wind through Springfield beginning at 9:30 a.m., Aug. 13. There will be smaller parades on the fairgrounds daily.

Special days of the fair this year include Mayors and Local Officials' Day, Aug. 14; Veterans' Day, Aug. 15; Illinois Agricultural Day, Aug. 17; and Ethnic Illinois Day, Aug. 21. Admission to the Illinois State Fair, Aug. 12-22, is $1 for adults and 50-cents for children 12 and under, senior citizens 60 and over and disabled citizens.
